Report Given On Metropolitan

Canadian Press

R. Driver, Toronto auditor, told the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying here to-day. The commission was continuing its inquiry into the operations of the variety chain stores.

"An analysis of recent payrolls," said the auditor, "reveals that fifteen full-time male employees received from $2 to $12 a week. One hundred and twenty full-time female employees were paid from $3.50 to $18 a week. The company operated fifteen stores, fourteen of which were in Quebec and one in Ontario."

Abduction Trial At Early Date In Ontario

D. Meisner, Former Cincinnati Bookmaker, Committed at London For Hearing After Identification Evidence By J. S. Labatt

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Nov. 14.—David Meisner, former Cincinnati bookmaker, was committed to-day for trial at the next assizes in Middlesex or Lambton County on a charge of participating in the kidnapping last August of John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer.

Meisner was committed by Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw after Mr. Labatt had identified him in court as the man who dragged him from his automobile as he drove from his summer home near Sarnia towards London. He said Meisner was one of three men who took part in his abduction.

Labatt said the three men, one of whom he believed was named Pegram, had captured him at pistol point and had released him only after he had agreed to pay them $25,000 for his liberty. He did not say whether he had paid the money.

After Mr. Labatt had told of meeting an automobile containing three men and of being stopped by them and dragged from his car, Special Prosecutor J. C. M. German of Toronto asked if he could identify the man who first approached him.

Associated Press
Manila, P.I., Nov. 14.—Another typhoon—the third to swirl across the centre of the Philippines in less than a month—struck the eastern islands of the archipelago to-day, causing heavy property damage and possible loss of life.

The tempest was headed to-night in the direction of Manila. Three provinces—Samar, Leyte and Sorsogon—were listed. Before telegraphic communication ceased, messages reported the wind had reached a velocity of thirty miles an hour and was steadily increasing.

PREDICTS THIRD PARTY IN U.S.

Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 14.—Governor Floyd B. Olson, recently re-elected, predicted to-day there would be an agrarian political revolt in the United States, with a possible third party emerging, unless "equality is obtained for agriculture."

A supporter of President Roosevelt, Governor Olson said the possibility of a third party "depends on what Mr. Roosevelt does. He has control of everything now and the people expect him to deliver."

Quota Plan For Potato Control

Lower Mainland Delegation Discusses Scheme With Marketing Board

A sales quota system for potatoes was the main feature of a marketing scheme discussed with the Provincial Marketing Board this morning by a delegation from the lower mainland.

This is a new departure in schemes so far laid before the board, as it would limit every grower in the amount of potatoes he would be able to sell.

The original scheme included both the quota system and a provision for pooling returns, but the Marketing Board held that this could not be done. The growers then favored the quota plan.

It was explained the scheme is still in draft form and has to undergo considerable revision.

The delegation appointed by the growers' body was headed by A. Swenson, Delta, and included J. Kennedy of Surrey and J. Maxwell of Delta.

They represented growers with a total output of 30,000 tons of potatoes, of which 20,000 tons are sold on the local market.

Market control for vegetables in the area is also contemplated, they said. New difficulties have arisen in efforts to reach an agreement between independent and associated milk producers of the Fraser Valley on a marketing scheme, it was learned to-day, and prospects of an early adoption of their scheme were said to be hazy.

B.C. Stands Firm for Sockeye Regulation

Not Prepared to Scrap 1930 Treaty, Says Hon. George S. Pearson After Informal Conference in Seattle; More Negotiations Expected

Returning to-day from a conference of Canadian and U.S. fisheries officials in Seattle relative to rebuilding the Fraser River salmon fishery, Hon. George S. Pearson, B.C. Commissioner of Fisheries, indicated this morning that British Columbia was not prepared to abandon the Sockeye Salmon Treaty of 1930.

The proposal advanced at the Seattle meeting was that the treaty be scrapped in favor of a fact finding study of all varieties of salmon spawning in the Fraser River. This plan originated with the fisheries committee of the Washington State Planning Council, headed by Miller Freeman of Seattle. It would have formed the basis for a new treaty.

The discussions were very amicable. Mr. Pearson said, the whole meeting being in the nature of an informal talk between representatives of the province and state involved. Governor Clarence D. Martin of Washington called the groups together.

Taking the position that the facts of the situation had already been thoroughly investigated in British Columbia, the province could not agree to abandon the sockeye treaty, Mr. Pearson pointed out. This treaty was drafted after years of study and provides for an international commission, with regulatory powers. It was based on a study of the fishery depletion over many years.

The Fraser River question is no longer a scientific problem. It is a practical problem, and the treaty provides steps to meet the situation," Mr. Pearson said.

In addition to Mr. Pearson, other Canadian fisheries officials attending the conference were Mr. J. H. Wright of Utiqa, N.Y., who flew off from the Maritime provinces to-day on a route to Montreal, on a return flight from Calcutta to London.

He was accompanied by one passenger, Mervyn Baldwin, a British tea planter in Annam, whom he picked up at Calcutta.

As British-Dominions Spokesmen Meet Rumors Of Proposals Are Heard

VANDERBILT CASE DECIDED

New York Judge Says Little Gloria to Have Proper Life

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 14.—The long drawn out Vanderbilt-Whitney guardianship hearing, ended to-day with this decision by Supreme Court Judge John F. Carew: "The child, Gloria Vanderbilt, is not to have for the future the life that it had from the death of its father, up till June, 1932."

Justice Carew declined to amplify his statement, or explain whether he had given custody of little Gloria, ten-year-old heiress, to her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, or to Mrs. Harry Payne-Whitney, the child's aunt.

"What does it mean?" the justice was asked.

"It means exactly what it says," replied Justice Carew.

Mrs. Whitney and members of her party appeared elated when they left the courtroom. Mrs. Vanderbilt was not present during the proceedings to-day.

The life little Gloria "had from the death of her father until 1932" was, witnesses for Mrs. Whitney charged, "not the proper one for a child."

During this period, she was in the custody of her mother.

Justice Carew said he would confer to-morrow afternoon with counsel for both sides.

STORM DELAYS LAKE VESSELS

Some Ships Proceed as Wind in Ontario-Quebec Area Dies Down

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Great Lakes vessels were held in shelter to-day and traffic was held up in most ports as captains feared to set out until the heavy winds, snow and rain of a November storm had abated.

Two deaths and numerous accidents resulted from the storm which struck yesterday. The storm was subsiding to-day.

Laden with 7,000 tons of coal, the collier William A. Reis went aground at Sheboygan, Wis., when wind reduced the depth of the straits of Mackinac which join Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. Coastguards said the crew of thirty-five was not in danger and the raft could be brought in as soon as the lake returned to normal level.

The Tree Line Boat, Poplar Bay, missing since it left Port Huron, Mich., November 10, was reported to be riding at anchor off Mackinac, Mich.

Turbulent waters in the Detroit River caused the Ford Motor Company's large freighter, Benson Ford, to run aground. The captain reported there was no danger and the vessel could run free as soon as the gale died down and the water rose.

SLAIN CHILD IS IDENTIFIED

Body Found in Tennessee Declared Kidnapped Dorothy Distelhurst

Associated Press
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 14.—A body found in a shallow grave on the outskirts of Nashville was identified to-day as that of Dorothy Ann Distelhurst, six-year-old girl kidnapped last year by her mother, Mrs. Macdonald, who was in custody of the state.

The announcement of the identification was made by Attorney-General J. Carlton Loefer, who said the child was murdered.

Dr. Herman Spitz, pathologist, and Dr. Leonard F. Poque, dentist and orthodontist, examined the body and joined the Attorney-General in the announcement the identification was positive.

"The child was murdered," Loefer said. "Her skull at the left side was crushed by a blow from a hammer or other blunt instrument. A rag was found in the mouth, possibly used as a gag to prevent an outcry."

"The identification was established definitely by the filling in the second upper right baby molar," Dr. Poque said. "The child was about six years old when she disappeared and said the filling in the tooth was his work."

The father, Alfred E. Distelhurst, had been in New York since last Wednesday, waiting word from persons he believed had kidnapped his daughter, September 19, Distelhurst was ready to pay $5,000 for return of his child, but had received no word from the supposed abductors.

London Papers Speculate on Present Tour of Sir Maurice Hankey, Who Is to Talk With Australian and New Zealand Leaders and Also Will Visit Canada

Dominions Told Of Naval Talks

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 14.—Utmost reticence was maintained to-day regarding the meeting between representatives of the British and Dominion governments yesterday in connection with the deadlocked tri-power naval conversations here.

It was stated officially the object of the meeting between Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, Dominion Secretary J. H. Thomas and High Commissioners of the Dominions was to furnish information to the Dominions concerning the progress of the naval talks. This is the usual procedure. London representatives of the Dominions, of course, receive information on such conferences from the British government merely for transmission to their home governments, which alone are empowered to make decisions on any matters that may be submitted for their consideration.

In the present case, however, there was nothing to show whether any proposals had been laid before the Dominions.

HANKEY'S TOUR
Apart from the naval meeting, however, reports persisted that Sir Maurice Hankey, permanent secretary of the Imperial Defence Committee, in his present empire tour was carrying proposals of some nature or other to the Dominion governments regarding empire defence. Sir Maurice started out for Australia some weeks ago by way of South Africa and before returning he will have visited New Zealand and Canada as well.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has stated Sir Maurice's visits to the Dominions are purely personal, but the opposition Daily Herald to-day derided this assurance. "It has been admitted by Sir Maurice himself," it added "that in each Dominion he will have discussed the going to discuss, defence matters."

"His visit to South Africa has been followed by the production of an ambitious defence plan. His visit to New Zealand is to be the occasion of an Australasian defence conference. In view of the facts it is impossible to accept Premier MacDonald's assurance that such a tour by the secretary of the Imperial Defence Committee has no political object."

"We would not for a moment suggest the Prime Minister is trying to (Turn to Page 11, Col. 1)

DEATH SENTENCE AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—George D. Jayhan, who at noon yesterday attempted to take his own life, yesterday evening was convicted of the murder of Sergeant John Verne of the St. Boniface police force on July 24, and was sentenced to be hanged February 12.

The jury considered the case for close to two hours, and rejected the defence plea that Jayhan had shot in self defence. The constable was shot while chasing Jayhan, and died in a hospital shortly afterwards.

During the noon adjournment, while Jayhan was in a detention cell, he slashed his wrists with a razor blade, police said. He was rushed to a hospital, where the wounds were dressed. The court resumed in the afternoon with Jayhan in attendance.

When the jury's verdict was returned and the usual question was put to Jayhan, he declared he had nothing to say.

Bolivia Wins Chaco VictoryRecaptures 1,600 Square Miles Lost to Paraguay in Summer Fighting

Associated Press
Buenos Aires, Nov. 14.—A new Bolivian offensive in the Chaco Boreal has recaptured approximately 1,600 square miles of territory in the northwest portion of the disputed area, according to reports received in Buenos Aires.

The Bolivian drive, launched despite the onset of the rainy season, virtually wiped out Paraguay's conquests in the course of Gen. Stigarr's daring advance toward the Parapiti River and Bolivian oil fields in August.

New developments in the fighting, in which dispatches indicated 20,000 men on each side were engaged, will depend on whether the heavy rains, now due, come soon, and whether the Bolivians, satisfied with having averted Paraguay's threat against towns along the Parapiti, abandon operations until after the rainy season.

A crowd of 20,000 persons singing patriotic songs, jammed La Paz streets in celebration of the Bolivian victory which, the Ministry of War announced, smashed the Paraguayan right wing in the northern Chaco, threatened the centre and pushed the enemy back twenty-five miles.

When the jury's verdict was returned and the usual question was put to Jayhan, he declared he had nothing to say.

SENDS NOTE TO LEAGUE
Associated Press
Geneva, Nov. 14.—Paraguay sent another note to the League of Nations yesterday evening, putting it squarely up to that body to stop the Chaco war by using its powers under Article 11 of the League Covenant.

The note from Asuncion, the second within two days, said the League must either use its powers to safeguard peace "or suffer a grave loss of prestige."

The note was regarded as a last minute's move to halt the fighting with Bolivia and as inferentially attacking the Bolivian thesis that settlement of territorial claims must be simultaneous with the discontinuance of hostilities.

Austria Wants Larger Army

Associated Press
Vienna, Nov. 14.—An increase in the size of the Austrian army would be welcomed by the country both as a means of reducing unemployment among the youth of the land and for its great educational value," according to Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

The Austrian army is limited by the peace treaties to 30,000 troops.

Speaking at a luncheon of Anglo-American newspapermen yesterday, the Austrian chancellor declared decisively there would be no monarchist restoration in Austria—"At least not in the immediate future."

The chancellor denied any negotiations were under way to normalize relations between Germany and Austria.

"However, we are doing our best to avoid anything which would increase the present tension," he said, alone. Those who leave Austria "we ask only that Austria be let alone will always find her a good neighbor."

She refused as graciously as her amusement permitted, and soon the music stopped.

"Well, then," said the young man, pulling out a notebook, "maybe you'll give me your autograph."

WOULD BACK COUNCIL AIMSupport For City's Attitude To New Relief Basis Urged Upon Ratepayers

Support of the city and municipal council on their stand against the new basis of relief distribution formed one of many suggestions put forward at a meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association in the City Temple yesterday evening.

The meeting, over which Frank LeRoy presided, was open to the public.

The suggestions, dealing largely with taxation matters and civic affairs, will go to the executive of the association to determine which, if any, will be formed into resolutions for the endorsement of the association.

SUGGESTIONS
Among the suggestions were: That the city return to the ward system of representation on the council; that a service tax of $10 a year be imposed on all men over twenty-one years as a means of lightening the burden on property holders; that an injunction be sought to restrain the city from paying out money for unemployment relief on the grounds that it was not in accordance with the Municipal Act; that larger incomes be more heavily taxed, and that a greater inheritance tax be imposed by the government.

LOTTERIES BILL VOTED IN BRITAIN

London, Nov. 14.—The government's betting and lotteries bill, which forbids sale of tickets and publication of any news about lotteries and sweepstakes, was given third and final reading by the House of Commons to-day. The vote was 306 to 38. The bill will now go to the House of Lords.

The bill also provides for introduction of the tote betting system on greyhound race tracks.

"The bill does not prohibit an individual from having a lottery ticket for himself in the country of origin provided he does not sell it or hand it over to anyone else in Great Britain."

The prohibition on publishing lottery news was extended in the bill to the circulation in Great Britain of Irish or foreign newspapers containing lottery news.

EXPLORERS OF EMPIRE THEMESir Percy Sykes Tells of Heritage of Discovery Before High School Students

"Our explorers have sown what others have reaped. They founded the empire. It is for us to develop the splendid heritage which they, greatly daring, have bequeathed to us," students of Victoria High School were told yesterday afternoon by Sir Percy Sykes, K.C.I.E., C.B., C.M.G., speaking under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

Sir Percy traced the history of British exploration from the voyage of John Cabot to Cape Breton and the Bay of Fundy. Cabot's voyage was undertaken in the same latitude as England, he said, so as not to interfere with the claims of Portugal and Spain to the whole of the ocean.

The speaker stressed the fact that the early explorers all were seeking the spice islands on the east, not any continent which might happen to lie in between, and that the explorations of Cabot and Cartier were considered financial failures. Cabot discovered the cod fisheries of the Grand Banks, and Cartier found the fur trade, but neither was developed.

GREATEST EXPLORER
Alexander McKenzie, the first man to cross Canada to the Pacific Coast, Sir Percy named the greatest explorer of the continent of North America. Yet there was no monument to him. It was to the generation listening to him to put this to rights.

The speaker traced the voyages of Hudson to the Arctic and Drake around the world, of Cook to New Zealand, Australia and the Pacific Coast of America, and of Vancouver, to this island.

Sir Percy concluded his address on the explorers of the empire by telling of Livingstone and the other great men who opened up the dark continent of Africa, the last to be explored.

Following his address the speaker took his audience on a brief trip over the Roof of the World, in Chinese Turkestan, accompanying his words with colored lantern slides. He told of the strange habits of the Khirgis tribes who inhabit the high valleys of that icy region, the land of Schorab and Rustum of poetic fame, and described how he had shot the rare avia Polli.

DIRECT TALK BY MINISTERRev. G. Stevenson of Port Alberni Says Sloppy Sentiment of War Gone Forever

Special to The Times
Port Alberni, Nov. 14.—Giving the address at the Armistice service here on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Glen Stevenson told a large congregation that the days of sloppy sentiment and insipid platitudes over the Great War were gone forever, and that if the peoples of the world wanted to avert war and re-establish economic order they must return to Christianity and rally behind the leadership of the church.

It was a straight-front-the-shoulder talk, sparing neither layman nor clergy.

The service this year, as always, was held under the direction of the Canadian Legion, but the ranks of the veterans are thinning out so rapidly that the customary parade from post office to Memorial Hall was eliminated. Rev. A. MacLean opened the service with a few brief words, followed by the silent tribute of two minutes' duration. The congregation joined in sing "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "O Valiant Heart." Prayer was led by Rev. A. MacLean, D. McCullough read the Scripture lesson, Mrs. R. G. Marlow sang "Crossing the Bar" and Comrade H. Pickles sounded the Last Post.

Members of the Port Alberni Choral Society assisted at the service, and the pianist was Max Clarke Wright.

New Ratepayers' Group Is Formed

The Central Council of the Seaside Ratepayers' Association was organized at a meeting in Tolmie School yesterday evening, attended by representatives of four ward associations in the municipality.

A constitution for the new group was formed as the old Central Ratepayers' Association was formally dissolved by Tom I. Sargeant, president.

No officers were chosen, this business being deferred until the first meeting of the new group in December. Members of associations from Ward One, Two, Four and Seven attended the meeting.

Minute's Silence For Texas Guinan

New York, Nov. 14.—Some of the night clubs, happy in an opportunity to display a bit of genuine emotion, observed a minute's midnight silence on the anniversary of Texas Guinan's death.

But in a few places the merry-makers made merrier. Cocktails were tilted in a toast. Tinkling glasses and wooden clappers provided a tumultuous requiem. Miss Guinan, who was the noisiest woman in Manhattan, would have liked that.

Ruddy Elmer Leterman, writer of insurance policies for most of Broadway, gets about with Peggy Hopkins Joyce . . . She, by the way, wears fewer jewels this season. It is Yvonne Printemps, the French star, who owns the most gems—a half-million dollars worth, they say . . . Thomas Meighan has gone back to Hollywood, and without saying why. Estelle Taylor hears that the antique furniture in her rented Hollywood house has been painted white by the new tenant . . .

Most of the great ladies of the stage are active again—Katharine Cornell, Ethel Barrymore, Eva Le Gallienne, Sybil Thorndike. Princeton, Tullian Bankhead. And the rumors are growing again that Maude Adams will return . . . Miss Bankhead has christened Eliah . . . Somebody has recalled that the late Lou Tullgren, by the grimmest of coincidences, once played in "The Picture of Dorian Grey." Like Dorian, aghast at the loss of his youth and popularity, he stabbed himself to death.

More Barley From Farms on Prairies

Winnipeg, Nov. 14. — Encouragement to barley growers features reports considered by the National Barley Committee and the associate committee on grain research, suggesting the possibility that production of barley on the prairies may replace wheat growing to the extent of 3,000,000 acres.
T. J. Harrison of the Board of Grain Commissioners, chairman of the National Barley Committee, yesterday issued a summary of the work under way.

A marketing survey of Canada, province by province, will be started next month, covering transportation and storage facilities, local distribution agencies, kinds and quantities of feed barleys in demand. Olive B. Davidson, secretary of the marketing committee, is now in Europe, and will study the export barley market, and arrangements have been made to send Dr. J. A. Anderson of the National Research Council to Europe to make a practical study of requirements of overseas maltsters.

MUCH GRAFT AT LOS ANGELES

Grand Jury Finds Many Civic Officials in Dishonest Acts

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Nov. 14. — The integrity of many Los Angeles city and county public officials was attacked yesterday in a "corrupt" statement issued by the county grand jury, which is conducting a sweeping investigation of city and county expenditures over the last four years.

"Our auditors have discovered what appear to be some of the worst forms of graft and corruption that ever infested a body politic," the statement, issued by Dr. John P. Buckley, jury foreman, said. "Our sole purpose now is to put our fingers on the guilty parties."
"We hope the public does not conclude that all our public officials, or a majority of them, are dishonest; but far too many of them seemingly are. This forces those who are conscientiously endeavoring to do their duty to swim up stream."

E. B. Cassidy, chief auditor for the grand jury, announced he was still preparing subpoenas for the bank accounts of every city and county legislative official who has held office since 1931.

CONTRACTS FOR PAVING
Among other things, the jury announced it would attempt to learn if there was any "corrupt agreement" which resulted in the city and county purchasing a certain type of paving material exclusively from one concern.

The grand jury already has indicted District Attorney Burton Pitts, and his sister-secretary, Mrs. Bertha Gregory, on charges of perjury in connection with the so-called Hollywood "girl mart" case of 1931.

R. A. Lyons Of London, Ont., Dies

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Nov. 14.—Robert A. Lyons, who installed the first electric lights in London fifty years ago, and whose plans were responsible for the development of artesian wells in this district, died in a hospital yesterday after a short illness from pneumonia. He came to Canada from England in his youth, more than sixty years ago.
Major Allan Lyons, M.C. of Vancouver, his only son, rushed to London by airplane and arrived in time to see his father before he died.
The elder Lyons was superintendent of the London Electric Company for twenty-nine years, and had been connected with the Garlock Packing Company of Hamilton and Montreal for the last twenty years.

California Urged To Abolish Senate

San Francisco, Nov. 14. — Walter McGovern, state senator-elect, announced he will introduce a constitutional amendment to convert California's two-house legislature into a single chamber body when the legislature convenes in January.
He is following the lead of Senator George Norris of Nebraska, who prevailed on voters of his state to authorize such change in a plebiscite along with the November 6 general election.

HAS MOST AUTOS FOR POPULATION

Washington, D.C., Nov. 14.—There are more automobiles per capita in Washington than anywhere else in the world—one for every 2.97 persons—and the traffic problem, what with a growth to 175,000 car registrations from 157,000 last year, is more or less terrific.
Chief reasons for so many cars seems to be the extra-large "middle class" population here, lack of laws against parking all night on the street, cheap licenses, and absence of rapid transit.
More taxicabs in proportion, too. About 5,800, compared with only 17,000 in New York, which is ten times as big. Reason: Unregulated competition and low rates.

Double Tragedy Ends Romance

Indiana Man Shoots Wife,
Sixteen, and Ends Own Life

Associated Press
Medora, Ind., Nov. 14.—Writing a death note on a plain little handkerchief, the first gift ever given him by the girl-wife with whom he was not allowed to live, Muriel Hunsucker, twenty-five, shot her fatally on a street here yesterday and then committed suicide.
She was sixteen and her name was Dorothy, an honor student in the local high school. The pretty child-bridge was killed just across the street from the school, to which she was returning after having been home for her noon lunch.
A portion of the death note written on the handkerchief was addressed to Mrs. Louis Carr, mother of Dorothy, who lived in Buffalo, N.Y., until just a few years ago. Young Hunsucker blamed Mrs. Carr for keeping his wife from him, after their secret marriage was discovered last month. They had been married in Louisville, Ky., in September, 1933.

African Dances Studied In Brazil

Associated Press
Recife, Brazil, Nov. 14.—Learned scientists to-day watched grating negroes, swirling and stamping in the savage rhythms of African dances, and strove to learn from them something of "Afro-Brazilian" future.
The scientists, members of the National Scientific Congress, studied the negroes' speech, art and customs in an effort to deduce what racial and ethnic implications her African population holds for Brazil.
They sought, too, to lay bare the mysteries of African jungle magic, hoping through it to aid sufferers from mental maladies among Brazil's illiterate population.
To the alternate wall of sing-song canticles and the monotonous counterpoint of tom-toms, turbaned negro women and their broad chested, half-naked men swung and postured in the intricate rhythm of the rumbas and similar primitive dances. The negroes call their staccato ceremonies "Xango." Authorities here say its origin is aesthetically as pure as the western world's opera and ballet.

Mud Masks Used By Auto Bandits

Associated Press
Glasboro, N.J., Nov. 14.—Two mud-masked robbers yesterday forced a woman taxicab operator to drive them and a woman cashier to a country lane, where they left the woman after stealing the cab and $650 in cash and cheques from the cashier.
Mrs. Elsie Harvey, cashier at the Glasboro office of the People's Gas Company, said the robbers, their faces plastered with mud, pointed pistols at her as she was stepping into the cab, driven by Mrs. Mary Smorts, to be taken to a bank.

STATE HEALTH INSURANCE ASSURED

HON. G. M. WEIR, PROVINCIAL SECRETARY and the Minister in the government responsible for the conduct of the Department of Health, has made up his mind that at the next session of the Legislature he will introduce a measure to provide for State Health Insurance in British Columbia. In so doing he will be carrying out one of the principal planks laid down in the platform of the Liberal party when it appealed for the support of the electorate in the fall of last year—and he will be following a course which will be approved by the public as a whole.

It is a commonplace that the preservation of the health of the people should be the first charge of the state. Dr. Weir very naturally points to the success which has attended the operation of State Health Insurance in Great Britain, the plan which was inaugurated as far back as 1911, much abuse from some quarters being poured on the head of its sponsor, Mr. Lloyd George. But it has definitely resulted in the following benefits:

- (1) Whole classes of persons are now receiving a real medical attention which they formerly did not receive at all.
- (2) The number of practitioners in proportion to the population in densely populated areas has increased.
- (3) The amount and character of the medical attention given is immensely superior to that formerly given in the great majority of "clubs" or "lodges."
- (4) Illness is now coming under skilled observation and treatment at an earlier stage than was formerly the case.
- (5) The work of practitioners has been given a bias towards prevention that was formerly not so marked.
- (6) Clinical records are being provided that may be made of great service in relation to public health and medical research.
- (7) Co-operation among practitioners is being encouraged to an increasing degree.
- (8) The collective responsibility of the medical profession to the community receives greater recognition.

Obviously any plan for State Health Insurance in British Columbia must rest on a sound actuarial basis. This basis might involve the creation of a reserve such as is established in connection with any sound insurance scheme. This reserve is used to pay a great number of claims in the later years of the insurance contract when the incidence of illness increases. The general principle involved here is that the reserve, plus the present value of future premiums, should equal the present value of future benefits. This involves an actuarial computation. It may be taken for granted that the provincial government through its Provincial Secretary is consulting the most competent authority on the subject.

No scheme can be launched which will embrace, at the outset, all the benefits that advocates of State Health Insurance recommend. For instance, it may be advisable at the beginning to meet the increasingly heavy expense of diagnosis and to make satisfactory provision for the health needs of the unemployed and indigent. In many instances thorough diagnosis has now become almost prohibitive, except for preferred classes in the community. Heart examinations, metabolism, bacteriological examination, serological tests, blood chemistry, the examination of sputum, spinal fluid, blood tests, urinalysis, and so on, are now frequently part of the routine examination; but these tests account for a large share of medical costs.

It is not necessary to discuss these important details at length here; they are for the consideration of those who will have to draw up the measure and be responsible for its operation. The main point is, however—and Dr. Weir is confident about it—the consensus of opinion favors the progressive step which the government proposes to take. We are told that this view is held by an overwhelming majority of the medical, dental and nursing professions in this province and by an equally great majority of British Columbians of average means. In this connection the words of Hon. Vincent Massey, when speaking on a matter of similar public importance, who addressed the Canadian Nurses' Association in Saint John in 1932, might be quoted:

"The critic will, however, say, 'This is all very well, but who is to pay for this government system of nursing?' It may be that a socialized nursing service can only be properly financed when based on a general contribution system of health insurance on a compulsory basis. This, in my personal opinion, must come. But let us remember the object we have now in view. Public health might well come before some other things which have made a drain on our public treasuries. Economies, too, might help to finance a state nursing service—not public economies, but the normal economies which were 'bad form' in the 'frigid twenties.' I have no doubt as to our ultimate decision in this important matter if we deal with the matter on its merits. The discussions about paternalism, individualism and socialism relating to this problem are for the most part unreal. The good British practice when there is a job to be done is to do it, and let the 'means' take care of themselves. The tags can be applied by the theorist later on."

Many eminent Canadians will endorse Mr. Massey's words. The advice to the British Columbia government is: "Go ahead."

SEEMED FUTILE 1,700 YEARS AGO!

IT MIGHT HELP US TO FACE OUR CURRENT problems with more hope if we could only make use of the ingenious time machine described in one of H. G. Wells's novels.

This was a machine, as you remember, by which one could rove about in time as an automobile enables one to rove about in space. You could go either forward or backward—back to ancient Rome or forward to the millennium, whichever you chose.

If we could get hold of such a machine, and spin back through a few generations, we might discover that our difficulties to-day are only reprints of difficulties which assailed other men in times past. A writer in The Business Conditions Weekly of New York, recently set out to collect a few of the doleful outcries which former depressions have drawn from discouraged men.

As far back as the time of St. Augustine, 1,700 years ago, he finds a writer complaining that agriculture was decaying, purchasing power was dwindling, taxes were soaring, and commerce was collapsing; the conclusion drawn, of course, was that the world was going to the dogs for good.

He finds a distinguished French physician in 1832 voicing similar complaints, lamenting the turmoil and confusion of the times—he had seen a post chaise rattling along at five miles an hour, and he said that "this madness of speed is wearing out men"—and he felt that his newly-born son faced a life which could bring him neither prosperity nor happiness.

He finds an American editor in 1857 describing the "universal commercial prostration and panic" about him, and remarking that "it is a gloomy moment in history... never has the future seemed so incalculable."

In 1886 another public official speaks of the depression, and doubts that any revival can come up to the level of the preceding fifty years, concluding plaintively that "the day of large profits is probably past."

It is really worth our while to mull over the dismal Jeremiahs from the past. To be sure, it does not make our present problems any less difficult; but it may help us to see that a troubled time such as the present is never quite as dark and hopeless as the people who are living through it often suppose.

Historians fifty years hence will probably find some of our current fears just as quaintly humorous as those of former days seem to us now.

THE CANADIAN SPIRIT

THE PEOPLE OF OLIVER, B.C., RECENTLY sent a carload of fruit and vegetables to Manitoba for distribution in that province's drought area. Hon. W. R. Clubb, Manitoba's Minister of Public Works, in sending hearty thanks, said the act would "do more to cement good feeling between British Columbia and Manitoba than anything else possibly could."

Oliver is one of British Columbia's newest settlements. It was surveyed as recently as 1919 and in that particular community and the immediate vicinity there are to-day approximately 1,500 people—and judging from latest reports they seem to be doing very well indeed. Their shipments of fruits and vegetables this year appear to have been satisfactory and they look forward to the future with confidence.

The project of Oliver was part of the Oliver government's reconstruction plan to assist returned service men. At the outset it was regarded as purely a returned soldier project, the Dominion government of that day having failed to anticipate the problem of rehabilitating the civilian soldier in civil life. The scheme underwent considerable criticism from the Conservative opposition in the local Legislature on several occasions. But from the day on which Hon. T. D. Pattullo, then Minister of Lands, now Prime Minister, declared the settlement officially "open" things seem to have gone well.

In any event, the action of the people of Oliver in sending that carload of fruit and vegetables for distribution among those fellow Canadians who are in distressful circumstances in Manitoba reflects a state of mind among them which is in fine harmony with sturdy Canadianism.

PRESIDENTIAL YEARNING

THE HIDDEN AMBITIONS OF SUCCESSFUL men are interesting things, when we can find out about them. Many an industrial leader secretly wishes he had become a prospector or a musician; many a general would be a locomotive engineer or an Arctic explorer if he followed the dictates of his own heart.

But the most surprising of all these suppressed desires is the one recently attributed to the late President Coolidge.

Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, says that Mr. Coolidge always wanted to be an actor. Mr. Hopkins says that he and John Barrymore learned this, some years ago, while guests of President Coolidge at a White House luncheon.

The President, he says, not only wanted to be an actor, but was convinced that he would have been a pretty good one. But evidently he "did not choose" to try to become one.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CHAMPAGNE AND POTATOES
The New York Times

It is only slander that Marie Antoinette asked if the French people had no bread to eat, why didn't they eat cake? But if the luckless Queen had really talked like that she would be vindicated at this late hour in her own country. In the Champagne region distress is so acute that 20,000 families are reported to be living on potatoes and champagne.

The reason is a huge wine surplus, a bumper crop, and a resultant collapse in champagne prices. New crop and reserves amount to something like 240,000,000 quarts, and the annual sale is 25,000,000 quarts. The small growers live on potatoes because they cannot buy bread. They lack milk for the small children, but they have their own champagne to drink.

Meanwhile, on Long Island the relief authorities are planning to buy up 100,000 bushels of potatoes to relieve the glut. And in Washington the Department of Agriculture publishes a thirty-two-page research bulletin entitled "Shortening the Rest Period of the Potato," the object being presumably to grow more potatoes in less time. It is all very complicated.

A THOUGHT

Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.—I Peter iv 16.

A great part of human suffering has its root in the nature of man and not in that of his institutions.—Lowell.

Loose Ends

A new profession promises fine opportunities to the young—the Rhine becomes important even to us—Miss Oslenne finds us romantic—but we don't appreciate it.

By H. B. W.

NEW PROFESSION

IN A CIVILIZATION based largely on lies, we have too long lacked a trained profession of liars. In all the other essential arts of our system, in engineering, manufacturing, merchandizing, we have trained experts of the highest skill. But our lying, though extensive, has been conducted, after all, on a regrettable haphazard basis, often by unskilled practitioners without any organization, without any regulation, without those systems of ethics which are so vigorously maintained in other lines of endeavor.

It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that this work at last is to be placed upon a stable and satisfactory basis. In the United States an organization has been formed to supply propagandists of every description for any purpose whatever. If you have some ideas you want to put over to the public, but which is a little too personal and shady to be advertised publicly on its merits, you merely ring up the propaganda bureau. It will arrange a whispering campaign for you at an hour's notice. Trained whisperers will be sent out to skulk through society spreading your message, however foul it may be, without ever letting anybody know, of course, who is paying them.

Thus in New York stylish and well-shaped young women are supplied to go about, superbly dressed, and to talk loudly in night clubs and theatre lobbies about the thrilling gowns on sale at the home of styling man. Handsome and powerful young men are sent scouring the country to tell chance acquaintances in smoking cars how they get their energy and good looks from somebody's breakfast food. They have even applied this commendable technique to industrial disputes, in which trained actors go about to the home of striking men, tending to be strikers themselves. Thus insinuating their way into the confidence of the strikers' wives, they can tell deadly stories about the wickedness and foolishness of the union leaders and create discord on a grand scale.

Of course, this is only the beginning of a great new profession, which should offer a fine outlet for the talents of many boys and girls who are leaving our schools and at the moment see no chance of useful work. Here is an interesting life work, full of change and excitement and intrigue. And its possibilities have barely been scratched so far. Soon when a stranger advances his opinion about the Bennett Government on a street car, you will realize at once that he is on the payroll of the Liberal party organization. When some flapper at a party tells you what she thinks of the Pattullo Government, you will thrust her aside, knowing that she is a spy from the C.C.F. When some stranger ventures the opinion that it is a nice day, you will suspect that he is in the pay of the Publicity Bureau and trained by George Warren to advertise our climate.

No one will be free from suspicion when the word is full of trained whisperers. If this goes on, you will begin to suspect after a while that this column is hired by the bankers of Canada to defend our existing monetary system, or by the agricultural industry to boost the sale of good old-fashioned garden fertilizer.

UP TO US

THE ABLE NAVAL EXPERT OF THE London Observer has just written a detailed analysis of British military and naval policy which is to be recommended to Canadian statesmen and others interested in the future. He says that the British Government now regards the Rhine, as Mr. Baldwin has said publicly, as Britain's natural frontier in matters of defence. "More-

NATIONAL APPLE DAY

(October 31)
 The very first apple in history is part of the past's busy mystery; it is said to have been the apple that brought sorrow to Eve. Not at all like the apples of this story! We still cannot feel it was ever so, so apple so hard? Surely never so! All the fault, we think, lay with the serpent that day. And that old snake was certainly clever, though.

For apples to-day are so fair and nice, with a hint of in pies (with much care and spice). There can be no dispute that a bite of this fruit tends to take us right back into Paradise!

For Bad Times Only

FROM THE TORONTO GLOBE

On two recent occasions, in St. Catharines and during a visit to the Maritimes, Judge Fullerton, chairman of the Board of the Canadian National Railway, has taken issue with President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific, who has been repeating and re-repeating his arguments and statistics in behalf of railway amalgamation, or so-called unification.

It is a striking fact that, although the head of the Canadian Pacific has stumped the country promoting his policy, the cause of the Canadian National has been able to give some attention to the possible ill effects of this amalgamation propaganda on public opinion.

Boiled down to its essence, the campaign for amalgamation is a challenge to Prime Minister Bennett, defiance of the Duff Royal Commission and Parliament, and attempted destruction of the nation's railway investment. It can hardly be viewed in any other light, notwithstanding the plausibility attached to its promotion. Mr. Bennett has not intimated at any time that he wishes to recall this statement made in Winnipeg in 1930: "I say to you that no man in this country rejoices more in the strength and progress of the Canadian National Railway than I, made possible as it was in the first instance by the genius of our own statesmen and by the passing of legislation by our party. But more, every effort of mine after July 28 will be for one purpose. That purpose is to bring about the amalgamation of the Canadian National Railway with a publicly owned competitor of a private enterprise, but to see that it serves even better and more effectively the Canadian people, who are so proud of it."

Mr. Bennett's government appointed the Royal Commission to study and report on the railway problem, and Parliament endorsed its findings. Mr. Beatty alone appears to be dissatisfied with this procedure, although, strangely enough, speaking in Montreal last May, he took credit as the originator of the commission. He says to me that in a conference with the chief executive officer of the Canadian National, and at my suggestion he proposed to a committee of Parliament that a Royal Commission should be appointed to investigate the transportation situation in Canada. The proposal was approved. In due course the Royal Commission was appointed. It investigated, deliberated, and submitted a report.

The people of the country accepted the result with a feeling that a good job had been done, although the leading figures on the commission could not, in any way, be classified as favorable to public ownership of railways. What has changed Mr. Beatty's views as to the value of such a commission, for his offering of what he considers a better finding must be regarded as a change?

Moreover, in 1926 Mr. Beatty made a speech in which he upheld the principle of competition. These two large systems are competing," he said, "and strongly competing, and the people of Canada are obtaining, on the whole, excellent transportation facilities and are being charged lower rates than are charged in any other country in the world. While this competition proceeds, it is not, I think, such as may be described as destructive."

Conditions have changed since 1926. They changed for the better for a few years before they became

Why at 40 You Think You're "Growing Old"

At about 40, many people think they're "growing old." They're tired a lot. Have headaches more often. And they're subject to stomach upsets—nausea. Talk of "nerves."

Well, scientists say the cause, in a great many cases, is merely this: a tendency to an acid condition of the stomach. Likely the result of faulty diet.

The thing to do is simply to neutralize excess stomach acids.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, all you do is take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. Soon you feel like another person.

Signs Which Often Indicate "Acid Stomach"

LOSS OF APPETITE
FREQUENT HEADACHES
TENDENCY TO NAUSEA

Weddings

WILLEY-GOODVE

The home of Miss C. L. G. Goodve, 1605 Monterey Avenue, was the setting for a pretty wedding on Monday evening, when her niece, Helen Muriel, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Goodve of Anxox, and Mr. Thomas Raymond Willey, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Willey of Victoria, were united in marriage by Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D.

Only relatives were present at the ceremony, which was performed beneath an arch of ivy and chrysanthemums, similar flowers and greenery being used in the general decoration of the rooms.

The bride entered the room to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin," played by Miss Mary Cochrane, and was given in marriage by her aunt. She was an attractive figure in her simply-fashioned gown of ivory silk crepe and veil, which was worn with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of large pale yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Mildred Willey, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid, who wore a pretty frock of red crepe, and carried a sheaf of white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Harold Gent was best man. Miss Goodve wore a gown of black tulle. The supper table was set with the three-tier cake and was illuminated with tall yellow tapers.

The young people of St. Aidan's held their regular meeting in the hall on Friday. After a short business meeting a mock trial was enjoyed, with the plaintiff, Mr. Knapp, suing for a divorce because his wife wore such terrible color schemes, and by so doing had injured his health.

His attorney was Mr. Brown, the defendant, Miss Dawson; her attorney, Jennings; for defendant, Miss Armistage; judge, Miss Williams; witnesses for plaintiff, Miss Burwash and Mr. Jennings; for defendant, Miss Armistage and Mr. Boorman. The plaintiff won the case.

CATHOLIC Y. P. CLUB

Members of the Catholic Young People's Club will be hosts to their friends when a social evening is held in the clubrooms to-morrow night. A clever little play, "Do Men Gossip?" will be presented by the members of the dramatic branch of the club.

At the conclusion of the play, refreshments will be served and the evening will be brought to a close with dancing to a three-piece orchestra. All the members and their friends are heartily invited to attend.

Last Thursday, at the monthly business meeting, plans for the coming annual election of officers were discussed. Yesterday evening at the Olympic Bowling Alley, the Padies, Flashes and Red Devils came through with victories. It is planned to start a badminton club if a sufficient number of members are interested. Arrangements are nearing completion for the big "radio show" to be held December 6 by the club members.

For a Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy at Home

Quicker, Lasting Relief. Big Saving! No Cooking!

Here's an old home remedy you mother knew, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for severe coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 10 ounces of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and clears the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective. Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

Mrs. Marshall Field Gets Reno Decree

Associated Press
Reno, Nov. 14.—A hasty Reno divorce trial, moved up to first place on the day's court programme to accommodate Mrs. Field's New York attorney, to-day ended the marriage of pretty English-born Audrey James and Marshall Field III.

A charge of extreme mental cruelty, details of which were not revealed, won the divorce decree for Mrs. Field at a private hearing before District Judge Thomas P. Moran.

The millionaire grandson of the late Chicago merchant prince did not contest the case.

BOY KING NO LONGER CHILD

Peter of Yugoslavia Now Occupies Palace Rooms of His Late Father

Associated Press
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 14.—Little King Peter II of Yugoslavia does not yet occupy his father's throne chair or wear his golden crown, but he was given permission by his mother to-day to sleep in the bed left vacant by the assassination of King Alexander.

Deserting the nursery cottage where he had lived with "Tommy" and "Andy," his younger brothers, Peter asked his mother, the Dowager Queen Marie, if he might henceforth occupy rooms in the large palace where his father lived.

She immediately consented, because she is anxious, in the words of Peter's grandmother, the Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania, "that rooms once so full of life should not become empty shells."

So Peter's mother placed over the royal bed a painting of the late king in full military uniform, riding his favorite snow-white horse.

Discussing Peter's future, the royal grandmother said:

"He must sacrifice that which is most precious to all boys—his childhood. I sometimes wonder if the constant apprehension and inquiring look in his big velvety brown eyes is a foreboding of his future."

WOMEN URGE MORE RELIEF

B.C. Committee on Unemployment Asks Fifty Per Cent Increase

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Increase of 50 per cent in the standard relief scale is urged in a resolution passed unanimously by more than 100 women members of the British Columbia joint committee on unemployment, to be presented to the provincial government.

The resolution recommends the relief scale be increased 50 per cent, plus a 40 per cent increase in fuel, clothing and light allowances, plus extra rent allowance, with all relief money to be paid in cash.

Increased food and room rent allowance is urged for single persons with immediate fitting of suitable winter clothing and establishment of clothing allowance amounting to 40 per cent of requested food allowance, forty-five cents per day.

Abolishment of the policy of forcing single girls to accept any position in lieu of relief was urged. Provisions of free, adequate medical attention of all kinds for those unable to pay for it was also recommended.

A delegation will visit Victoria December 4 to place the resolution before the government.

BETTY DETERMINED TO PLAY "CRUSOE" ROLE

Miss Winnifred Kydd Makes Innovations at Queen's University

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 14.—Announcement that all women students are expected to wear gowns at lectures was an early development of the regime of Miss Winnifred Kydd, M.A., the new dean of women at Queen's University.

Miss Kydd also grappled with the question of smoking among the women students. She provided the co-eds with a special smoking room in the basement of Ban Righ Hall, the women's residence, with a view to having cigarette smoking by girls confined in close quarters.

Modelled on the lines of Glasgow University in Scotland where the gown was a traditional feature of student life, Queen's University since its opening in 1827 has always expected its undergraduates to wear the academic robe at lectures. In the early days the mortar-board was also considered essential to the properly clothed student. Nowadays this head covering is never seen here except on some of the professors in convocation processions.

Lately there has been disinclination on the part of many Queen's students to wear the gown. This was despite the fact that students in arts and theology must be so robed in class. Quite a number of co-eds were with the opposition. There was much discussion on the question.

Dean Kydd has now settled it so far as the women students are concerned. Her request will be generally carried out in the arts, commerce and theology classes, it may not be insisted on in the science and medical faculties where the regulation has never been enforced by the Queen's authorities. This university, by the way, was the first in Canada to establish a medical course for women.

Dean Kydd is a graduate of McGill University, Montreal, where the gown is not obligatory for students. She was for many years very active in social service work in that city, and is president of the National Council of women in Canada.

Sewing Circle.—The sewing circle of Court Maple Leaf A.O.P. will meet at the home of Mrs. B. M. Kirchin, 363 David Street, to-morrow evening. All Foresters and friends will be welcome.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mothers accept the fact that milk formula must have some added sugar, but in the face of so many different types of sugar they are unsure of which one to choose.

All sugars are pretty much alike though some are slightly easier to digest. Some babies can take cane sugar (the ordinary granulated kind found in almost every kitchen). But the most popular sugars for infant feeding are malt sugars (which are marketed under various trade names indicating the presence of malt), milk sugar and corn syrups.

USE LESS CANE SUGAR
Less granulated sugar is required than any of the other types. Most charts of formulas are designed for sugars of the latter three types. When using cane sugar in these formulas it may be figured that one tablespoon of granulated sugar can substitute for one and one-half teaspoons of any of the other sugars. Thus when four and one-half tablespoons are called for, only three tablespoons of granulated sugar are needed.

The amount of sugar in any formula is listed in our leaflet called "Sweet Milk Formulas," "Evaporated Milk Formulas," or "Lactic Acid Milk Formulas," any one of which may be had for a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a request for it from Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

SUGAR NEED DIMINISHES
Beginning at the tenth month sugar is gradually eliminated from the formula. When the baby gets whole milk without any water added to it, there is seldom any need for sugar.

But why is sugar necessary before this? Principally to make cow's or goat's milk more like mother's milk. This latter has nearly twice as much sugar in it as is contained in the other milks. Obviously, babies need more sugar than kids or calves.

SUGAR DIGESTS EASILY
The sugar offers nutrition in a form that is easy to digest and to assimilate. Many formulas are extremely constipating because they contain too much milk without a balance of sugar.

Paradoxically, enough, a formula containing too much sugar, without enough milk is likewise constipating. Sometimes a formula which has all the milk a baby needs still does not satisfy the baby, or make him gain

CHAPTER XXXVI

The girl did not look up as Fisher went on speaking. "I want the truth," he said. "I want the whole truth. I want it told without any attempt to spare yourself and I may say further that these gentlemen also want the truth. They, too, are interested in the case and they will be witnesses to every word that you say. If you depart from the truth in the slightest degree I shall see that you are prosecuted and these gentlemen will see that your are prosecuted."

He turned to Bleeker. "That is right, gentlemen," he asked. Bleeker nodded.

The lawyer turned back to the girl with the lashing fury of a pouncing cat returning to the attack upon a crippled mouse.

"Tell us," he said, "what happened?"

The girl's voice was weak and low pitched, but came steadily. The words were uttered with tense, nervous rapidity.

"I told the police the truth about one thing," she said. "It was a pick-up. I don't want you to think that I'm the type of girl who falls for a pick-up. I don't ordinarily, but this was exceptional. I don't know how it happened."

"It happened there at the hotel," the man registered as Mr. Cathay, Frank B. Cathay of River-view, said.

"I didn't know it was a hotel," she said. "I was reading a magazine. I lived there in the hotel, you know. I presume that's the way you looked me."

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

him in the elevator when the cage gave an unexpected start. I apologized, just one of those routine 'pardon me's.' He said, 'What at all?' and his fingers closed for a moment about my arm.

"I don't know what it was about the physical contact that thrilled me. It was something. Then his voice had something to do with it. He had a beautiful voice."

"I got off at my floor and he got off at the same floor. I think he was trying to pick me up. I thought so at the time, but I'm free, white and twenty-one and, after all, I didn't see any reason why I shouldn't pursue the acquaintance of a little fellow. I didn't give him even a glance as I went into my room and closed and locked the door. He got the number of my room and, of course, found out who I was."

"Then later on, in the lobby before dinner, I saw him again. He didn't seem at all fresh. Didn't seem inclined to take undue advantage of what had happened, but I could see that he was lonely. Apparently he didn't know what to do with himself. He'd read for a while and then he'd throw the magazine away and smoke a cigarette, and then he'd throw the cigarette away and pace around the lobby a little bit. I was reading a magazine. I lived there in the hotel, you know. I presume that's the way you looked me."

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

"I let him catch my eye finally," she said.

and gave him just the faintest suggestion of a smile. He came over and we got to talking. He seemed a very fine fellow. The more I talked with him, the more I liked him. I was lonely myself. I'd been going with a steady and he'd stepped out on me. I was on the loose. This man suggested dinner. I ate with him there at the hotel. Then he suggested a ride. He said he had a car parked near the hotel.

"He didn't seem to know much about the town. After a while we stopped at a place and had something to drink. He wanted to take a bottle with him but I was a little bit nervous about getting in an automobile with a new acquaintance and a bottle of whisky, so I talked him out of it. We talked about going to a dance and then he spoke of an appointment that he had—something that he'd come to town to do—so he went back to the hotel to keep his appointment. We were on the way back to the hotel when the officer stopped us because of some traffic violation. The officer smelled booze on the man's breath and then the man started talking back to the officer and the next thing I knew the officer climbed on the running-board and told us to drive him to police headquarters. He said we were going to be interrogated about some stick-ups of service stations."

"Right away I had visions of my picture being in the paper, and I whispered to this man, 'Remember, I'm a hitch-hiker pick-up. You don't even know my name.'"

She paused for a moment and stared pathetically at the attorney, as though begging him with her eyes to believe her.

Fisher, however, remained stern-faced, and uncompromising. "Tell it all," he said. "Every bit of it."

"That's all," she said. "You know the rest."

Fisher shook his head impatiently.

"You would want to stop there," he said. "You would want us to believe that was all. Now go ahead and tell us all of it. Tell us the sordid part of it. Don't try to spare yourself, or if you do, so help me heaven, I'll have you in a cell before another hour has passed."

"You know the rest," she said in a whimpering manner.

"Go ahead," he said. "Tell it to me. I may surmise the rest or I may know it. That's neither here nor there. You tell me."

"He put me in this hotel," she said. "He told me that it had been just a prank, that he had a wife and that he couldn't afford to have me interviewed by the newspapers. Then after the newspapers came out, I knew that he wasn't Cathay at all. The newspapers said he was a pick-pocket."

"You discussed the matter with him?"

"Of course."

"What did he say?"

"He said that the impersonation was entirely innocent," she said. "That he was trying to help a man get a good position. That this person had to have first-class references from Mr. Cathay and it was necessary for Mr. Cathay to sign some sort of a bond. He said that Cathay wouldn't do it. He would give references but he wouldn't give the kind of references that were required, and he wouldn't sign the bond."

"So this man was impersonating Cathay and was going to see that his friend got the job?"

"Yes."

"Who was his friend?"

"I don't know. It was someone he called Frank."

"This man had given you a name," he said. "When you met him?"

"Of course," she said. "What was that name?"

"Frank B. Cathay."

"Did he tell you he was from River-view?"

"Yes."

"Did you know he cashed a cheque?"

"Only a small cheque. I think it was a $50 cheque. He got some money before we went out."

"And that's all?" asked Fisher.

"That's all," she said.

Fisher turned to Orif, then looked at Bleeker.

"Satisfied?" he asked.

Orif shook his head slightly.

"Neither am I," said Fisher.

Fisher whirled once more to the attack.

"Immediately after that," he said, "you let us think that you were registered under the name of Stella Mockley."

"Yes," she said.

"Why did you do that?"

"I didn't want to be traced," she said.

"It wasn't your name," Fisher said. "Your real name was the one that you registered under at the hotel, Edith Nevers. The name, Mary Briggs, that you gave the police was merely an alias you thought up on the spur of the moment. The name Stella Mockley, that you assumed when you came to this hotel, was also an alias."

She nodded.

"And your new-found friend," he said, "was the one who paid the bill?"

"No," she said. "I did it myself."

"Don't lie to me," thundered Fisher. "I've told you what's going to happen if you lie. I am telling you that the man who posed as Frank B. Cathay is the one who footed the bill."

McGeer Sneaks To Ratepayers

Candidate For Vancouver Mayorality Talks of Finances

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Although the Vancouver civic election is still a month away, Mayor Louis D. Taylor yesterday filed his nomination papers, giving his occupation as "retired publisher." December 5 will be nomination day.

Inserted in the door of an automobile, or other places, a burglar alarm, about two inches long, invented recently by J. D. Taylor of Glasgow, Scotland, refused to stop ringing when the Prince of Wales tested it and thereby won his praise.

The majority race in Vancouver had been thrown up to him as a challenge. "I was not going to refuse to accept that challenge. That is why I happen to be as 'miscegenous' as I am," he said, referring to a description given to him because of his various mooted candidatures.

"All this deferred tax sale means is a postponement of the day of reckoning," said the speaker, dealing with civic affairs. In his opinion, the government at Victoria would have been better advised to take some steps to curb lawlessness in Vancouver. "I could have stopped bootlegging and gambling and the commercialization of crime," he said.

Mr. McGeer claimed Vancouver's debts, visible and invisible, had increased nearly $37,000,000 since the end of 1929. "Do you think that deferring tax sales is going to get you out of a jack-pot like this?" He believed the banks were ready to listen to arguments concerning the reduction of interest rates, and scoffed at suggestions that he would not be greeted kindly by the banks. "I will guarantee that you will not be any worse off with the banks than you are now, and you will find that as well as being a debater I can be a reasonable negotiator."

He dismissed suggestions that he would not have time to give to the mayorality with the declaration, "If I cannot clean up my desk at the city hall in an hour and do the work of the city council in one hour, I am time it now takes, I shall resign and get my twelve-year-old boy to do the job." But he added, "Yes, there is a job to be done by the mayor of Vancouver, and I shall make a full-time job of it if it takes me twenty-four hours a day."

FILES PAPERS

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Although the Vancouver civic election is still a month away, Mayor Louis D. Taylor yesterday filed his nomination papers, giving his occupation as "retired publisher." December 5 will be nomination day.

Calls on Canada to Stand Clear of War

Humboldt, Sask., Nov. 14.—"In the event of another war we must see to it that not one Canadian youth is sent across the seas to be offered as a sacrifice to Mars on a foreign field," M. J. Coldwell, provincial C.C.F. leader, told his party's nomination meeting here, stating the C.C.F. attitude toward international violence.

Stevens Given Pastor's Support

Toronto West Presbytery of United Church Asked to Make Declaration

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Before the Toronto West Presbytery of the United Church yesterday Rev. Murdoch MacKinnon of Toronto called on the presbytery "to say openly and frankly" that it was behind Hon. H. H. Stevens, who recently resigned as Minister of Trade and Commerce and chairman of the price spreads inquiry commission, after a controversy with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

"Hon. H. H. Stevens risked his all to help thousands of men who were being thrown on the streets and who were losing their homes," Mr. MacKinnon said. "Mr. Stevens has paid a price for the convictions he cherishes. I am disappointed he has been checked and hampered and interfered with by the government of which he is a member, instead of having been supported and encouraged in every possible way."

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Nov. 14.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., former Minister of Trade and Commerce and former chairman of the parliamentary price spreads and mass buying inquiry committee, will be chief speaker at the annual convention of the United Farmers of Ontario in Toronto, December 12.

R. J. Scott, president of the U.F.O., announced at a Wilton Grove meeting that Mr. Stevens had consented to speak. He said no political significance was attached to his comments, and that he would merely be a guest speaker.

KIWANIS CLUB HEADS NAMED

Annual Reports Presented at Dinner Meeting Yesterday

The following officers for 1934-35 were elected at the annual meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held in Speedie's Cafe yesterday evening, when reports on the last twelve months' activities were heard.

Rowan W. MacKenzie, president; Dr. A. M. Menzies, vice-president; Atwell D. King, treasurer, and W. Ellis Brown, Richard M. Williams, Arthur Dowell, Edwin Dickinson, William Draper, Allan D. Ballantyne and Arthur C. Stickle, directors. The new leaders will be installed into their respective posts in January.

S. J. D. Clark, the retiring president, paid tribute to the work of the officers who had worked with him during 1934. He referred to the club's efforts in connection with community welfare work. The club spent $3,211.35 on the T.B. seal campaign, paid out $335.10 for milk, $600 to Tranquille Sanitarium, and paid a full-time nurse for the examination and care of children.

Two scholarships of $100 each were presented to college students, and twenty-two boys were kept in membership in the Y.M.C.A., while fourteen lads were sent to the "Y" summer camp. The club also donated a cup to the Dynamite Club group of Oak Bay United Church for competition, the president said. He spoke highly of the work of Kenneth Ferguson, chairman of the membership committee, and Joseph Rose, in charge of the luncheon programme.

A bank balance of $85 and a reserve of $705.25 was shown by the auditor's statement.

Announcement was made of the plans for the Kiwanis track meet to be held at the end of the month. It was stated a U.B.C. team would participate, in addition to competitors from Island points.

The club also is planning a musical show early next year.

H. PETTICREW IS WARD HEAD

Chosen President of Liberals in Ward Two For Ensuing Year

Ward Two Victoria Liberals elected officers for the year yesterday evening at one of the largest ward meetings this fall.

Hugh Petticrew was chosen as president, with Mrs. Julia de Blaquiere as vice-president.

The secretary is F. G. Mansfield and the treasurer J. Irving.

Four were named as representatives on the central executive, as follows: Mrs. de Blaquiere, Mrs. H. Matthews, Edward Rainaldi and G. Brown.

For the ward executive the following were named: Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. McLaren, Fred Carter, C. C. Baxter and R. Smith.

Short addresses were given by W. H. Kinman, president, and C. J. McDowell, vice-president of the Victoria Liberal Association.

F. R. PATRICK LAID TO REST

The funeral of F. R. (Ted) Patrick, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrick of 980 Joan Crescent, who passed away at Bremerton, Wash., November 10, took place yesterday afternoon from the Sands Mortuary.

In the presence of many sorrowing friends, Rev. C. G. McKenzie officiated and the hymns sung were "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Forever With the Lord."

Mrs. T. Southern sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The address was given by Dr. Gerald B. Switzer. The following acted as pallbearers: Two brothers, Guy and Stanley; three brothers-in-law, J. J. Wesley, Miller, Gordon A. Strickland and William M. Scott, and a nephew, Murray Patrick. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Foul Bay Juniors' Dance Friday

Another of the popular semi-monthly dances which are staged under the auspices of the Foul Bay Junior Community Association will take place Friday evening in the Jenkins School, Foul Bay.

For a while the committee in charge of the dances did not know whether semi-monthly dances would be advisable during the winter months. By holding two dances a month those unable to attend the first dance of the month may find it easier to attend the mid-monthly dance, or vice-versa, thereby slightly splitting the crowd, which allows a more comfortable dance. Judging by its popularity the present system is very satisfactory.

Plans are also being completed for a bigger and better annual dance than was held last year to take place in February. Details for this event will be given at the dance on Friday.

METCHOSIN

Mrs. T. T. Pullan, who has been visiting her daughter at Chicago, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Skelton, who have been the guests of Mr. Skelton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Skelton, "Armstrongs," have left for their home on the mainland.

Members of the junior branch of the women's auxiliary of St. Mary's Church held a silver tea, sale of work and home-cooking at the vicarage on Saturday last. A substantial sum was realized.

The usual monthly meeting of the horticultural section of the Metchosin district Community Club was held Monday evening, the chair being taken by Major Meredith-Jones.

E. M. Whyte, Victoria, gave an instructive address on floral table decorations, and the making and arrangement of flowers in corsage bouquets, sprays and wreaths. The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, December 10.

PERSIAN SHAH MODERN RULER

Conditions Generally Improved Under Leader, Says Sir Percy Sykes

A strong man who overthrew the last dynasty, and was a ruler of modernistic sympathies in a land of ancient tradition and customs was the description given by Sir Percy Sykes, F.R.G.S., of the present Shah of Persia, in an address at the Victoria High School yesterday evening.

The lecture, given under the auspices of the National Council of Education, was illustrated by beautiful and entertaining lantern slides. Reviewing the Shah's accomplishments, the speaker said he had restored order in Persia, opened hospitals, improved education and lessened the power of the Moslem Mullas.

Indicating a complete knowledge of the country, the speaker reviewed Persian development from a historical and industrial angle. He dealt with its topography, its climate, its people, ancient and modern architecture and agricultural methods.

Since the rainfall in Persia was light, there were few rivers, and the population was confined chiefly to the foot of the mountains where the people were able to get most water for the irrigation of their land, he stated.

He spoke of the influence of the desert upon the people. One quarter of the 20,000,000 population were nomads, existing chiefly by raiding neighboring folk. The climate, he said, was similar to that of British Columbia's Cariboo.

Col. H. T. Goodland presided, and Sir Percy Sykes expressed thanks to the speaker.

Consolidated Smelters Appoint R. C. Crowe; A. L.
Johannson to Be Solicitor

Canadian Press
Trail, B.C., Nov. 14.—Announcement was made today by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of the appointment of R. C. Crowe of Trail as its general counsel. For the last fourteen years Mr. Crowe has been solicitor for the company. At the same time today announcement was made of the appointment of A. L. Johannson as solicitor for the company.

Mr. Crowe came west to New Westminster from Nova Scotia in 1899, and attended public and high school there. He is a graduate in arts from McMaster University and studied law in Vancouver with the firm of Smith and Woodworth. Called to the bar of British Columbia in 1914, he entered into partnership with C. M. Woodworth and N. H. Fisher of Vancouver. In 1915 he entered private practice at Trail, and joined the legal staff of the Consolidated in 1920.

Mr. Johannson is a graduate of Manitoba University in arts and law. He studied in Vancouver with the firms of Woodworth and Creagh and Woodworth, Fisher and Crowe. He served overseas with Canadian machine gun corps, and after the war practiced law in Vancouver as a partner of N. H. Fisher and Col. W. S. Buell. Later he was a partner in the law firm of Mayers, Locke, Lane and Johannson. He joined the legal staff of the Consolidated in October, 1933.

Alberni

Alberni, Nov. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bigmore, who have been spending a vacation at Vancouver and in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Forrest, have returned to their home at Estevan.

Miss Evelyn Hanes returned from Victoria on Tuesday after spending the week-end there as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hodgkin. Miss Jose K. MacDonald returned Monday evening from New Westminster, where she spent Armistice week-end as the guest of her mother, Armistice and Remembrance Day were duly observed at St. Andrew's United Church Sunday evening when members of the Young People's Association met in weekly session. Members of the boys' band contributed selections suitable to the anniversary. Peter Ramsay was the special speaker for the occasion, taking for his subject the poem "In Plander's Fields," with a resume of the author, John McCrae, and the background that inspired the author in the situation of the poem, emphasizing the passage "Let Us Forget," from which the speaker went on to deal with the situation in Europe to-day.

DEMPSEY HEADS BIG NIGHT CLUB

New York, Nov. 14.—The Dempseys, Jack, Hannah and Jacqueline, have settled permanently in Manhattan, taking a big apartment on the west side of Central Park. Jack is going into the night clubbing business on a $250,000 scale in a huge new place being built for him opposite the Madison Square Garden. Grand night in gay spots, however, will be the Cafe de l'Opera. Solid glass champagne bar, gold plated rail, background of ostrich feathers, and every night at the zero (or better) hour a beautiful girl will descend into a bowl of champagne. Then, like Little Eva, she will be spirited up and away from the champagne. It is all on paper so far, but is slated for a New Year's opening in the old Sherry building.

It has now been discovered what John D. Rockefeller Jr. drinks when he goes to his splendid Rainbow Room atop the Centre skyscraper. It is water. Not charged water either.

No horses, cows or sheep are permitted on a thousand-acre farm in Norfolk, England, all the work being done by machinery, including a plant which can, by using nothing but hot air, dry at least two tons of wheat an hour.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES
 Plans have been completed by the Y.M.C.A. Badminton Club for a dance to be held on the evening of Tuesday, November 27, in Spencer's Badminton Hall, View Street. Reg.
 Woods' orchestra will provide the music for the dancing, which will be from 9 to 1 o'clock. A buffet supper will be provided for the guests,
 some 200 of whom are expected.
 The dance is being organized by a committee made up of Merle North, convener, May Warnock and Ruth Lees.

Strange tales of the elusive goey duck and of the men who wrestle with alligators held members of the Y.M.C.A. Quaid Club enthralled yesterday evening as they listened to the experiences of Archie Wills. Miss Merle North offered accolades during the course of the evening for the enjoyment of the assembled clubmen.
 Jack Allison, president of the club,
 was in the chair.

The educational committee of the Y.M.C.A. will hold its first full meeting of the year at 4 o'clock to-morrow evening in the "Y" building, with F.
 Butterfield in the chair.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON STEADY

Associated Press
 London, Nov. 14.—A growing belief
 there would be no fresh devaluation in the United States kept the dollar steady against moderate sales here to-day. The rate moved narrowly and the dollar gained 1-16 cent to the pound sterling, closing at $4.99 13-16.
 The price of bar gold advanced 3
 pence to 120 shillings 3 1/2 pence
 ($34.81) a time ounce.
 The silver market was quiet and the price 1/2 penny lower at 24 1/2 pence an ounce.

U.S. SILVER RECEIPTS

Washington, Nov. 14. (Associated Press)—Nationalization of silver has brought 108,891,449 ounces of the metal into the United States treasury.
 With the ninety-day deadline for silver deliveries crossed November 7, the treasury yesterday reported that the total for the week ended November 9 amounted to 3,665,239 ounces.
 Total receipts of newly-mined silver were shown as 15,998,000.

In case of very large hemorrhages, however, it is customary to give a blood transfusion and thus to restore the blood volume promptly.
 In cases of diseases which destroy the blood, such as cancer or leukemia or serious infections, it is customary to discover the cause and to remove that cause.

Measures directed at the blood will not be successful. There are, however, certain kinds of anemia in which the blood simply fails to develop new blood cells to take the place of those that are worn out.
 Fortunately, it has been discovered that there are certain substances which will stimulate the blood-forming organs, when they are failing to keep up their work, and overcome the anemic condition. In some cases the trouble seems to lie in the fact that the stomach has lost the ability to secrete the acid needed for suitable digestion.

When the stomach juices act on certain foods, particularly on meat products, such as lean meat and liver, a substance is developed which stimulates the formation of red blood cells. It also serves to liberate iron

Pay Last Tribute To Mrs. W. Lothian

A large congregation paid their last tribute of respect at the funeral of Mrs. William Lothian, which took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. K. Unsworth. The large number of beautiful floral tributes received gave mute testimony of the great esteem in which Mrs. Lothian was held by her many friends.

The following were pallbearers: George Lowe, Thomas McDonald, Alex. McKee, James Strang, P. C. Patterson and Henry Webster.

The remains were laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Coming to Manitoba in the early days, Mr. and Mrs. Lothian were among the first settlers in the Pipestone district. For many years, until the town of Pipestone came into being, their home was a community centre for the social, literary and church activities of the district, and the influence radiating from that little prairie home are still treasured by those who survive. Mr. and Mrs. Lothian came to Victoria in 1913 and joined First United Church, where Mrs. Lothian was an active member of the Women's Missionary Society for many years, until finally confined her to her home.

Fine Recital Of Dramatic Art

Before a large and appreciative audience Ethel Cole and her pupils presented a very attractive "In Remembrance" recital at the Centennial Church yesterday evening. Miss Cole herself appeared in the dual role of exponent of the dramatic art and singer, among her former numbers being "The Three Things," by Mary Shipman Andrews, intensely dramatic; the amusing monologue, "Baumgartner and the Telephone," and one of Pauline Johnson's Indian poems.

Among her songs were "Fare Moon" (Logan), sung in costume, and "Lullaby of Lorraine" and "The Sweetest Flower That Blooms."

Other musical numbers on the programme included three songs by Mario Luca, "Rose of Tralee," "An Irish Love Song" and "The Lullaby Tree," and piano solos, "Dance of the Nocturne" by Miss Kathleen Brown, who also ably acted as accompanist.

Among the Miss Cole's who appeared included Eileen Chastler, Irene Kelly, Sandy Vye, Joyce Bayliss and Jack Tregellas, all of whom gave recitations which were applauded.

Frank White's accordion numbers and two readings by Mrs. Bayliss were also popular features.

B.C. PROGRESS NOTED IN EAST

C. S. Band of Toronto Comments on Manner Province Is Tackling Problems

Active interest is being taken by the businessmen of eastern Canada in British Columbia industries and a most optimistic outlook exists regarding commercial prospects in this province, states Charles S. Band of Toronto, vice-president of Gutta Percha and Rubber Limited, who is at the Empress Hotel to-day, in the course of a tour of the company branch offices from Halifax to the Coast.

Favorable reports are being given in the east concerning the manner in which British Columbia is tackling economic recovery problems, Mr. Band reports.

Diversified interests in B.C. provide sound reason for optimism, he contends. The east is receiving favorable news regarding fruit, fisheries, mining and lumbering in this province.

Of general business conditions, Mr. Band says things are looking up much better, with gains being held. "Our mechanical business, so far as Canada has improved, which is an index of better industrial conditions, and the great activity in mining centres has stimulated business," he said.

The mechanical development of which Mr. Band speaks is represented by the belting and hose requirements of agriculture and industry.

Survey of Canada's rubber industry, he added, would be incomplete without comment on the serious situation which has confronted the rubber footware section through the influx of foreign merchandise from countries where wages are far below those compatible with Canadian standards of living, and which condition threatened the jobs of Canadian workers.

Research and improvement of processes in the rubber industry have continued steadily, Mr. Band observed. One of the most recent instances of particular interest in British Columbia, he said, was the development of a special rubber belting for use in pulp mill conveyor systems, which lowered operating costs and increased production.

The Toronto plant of Gutta Percha and Rubber Limited covers eleven acres, with factories employing 1,500 people.

COURSE WILL NOT RUN WILD

Macaulay Point Golf Links Leased For Five Years, After Deadlock Broken

The Macaulay Point Golf Links will not be allowed to run wild, as had been feared after the meeting of the Esquimalt Council on Monday evening, when members of the club consented to lease the links to the Esquimalt Golf and Country Club, which follows the proposition of the council.

The links will be rented to the club for five years at an annual figure of $1000, plus any accrued profits during the last two years of the lease over and above reasonable operating expenses.

At Monday evening's meeting officials of the club delivered an ultimatum to the council, stating that they were only prepared to pay the figure of $1,000 annually, without any addition.

The only matter still outstanding is the question of the clubhouse, which is the property of the Hudson's Bay Company. If the club cannot rent the clubhouse, the building it is understood that another will be built.

The Macaulay Point golf links property reverts to the municipality for three years' unpaid taxes.

LOWER RATE REQUESTED

City Water Board After Cut in Interest Rate on Water Works Mortgages

The city's water committee, headed by Alderman Andrew McGavin, was seeking an interview with representatives of holders of mortgages on the Esquimalt Water Works to-day, with a view to requesting a reduction in interest charges.

The question of securing a lower rate was brought up some time ago by Alderman McGavin at a council meeting, and action was taken along the lines of a request. At that time it was understood the mortgage holders would be approached.

Following negotiations a statement was promised the city board on the question, and it was felt some announcement would be presented in the immediate future.

At present the city is paying 4 1/2 per cent interest charges on the mortgages.

Funeral Friday Of H. Macdonald

ARGUMENT ON OIL BURNERS

Agent Claims He Was Unable to Secure Regulations

J. A. Gauthier of the Taft Oil Burner Company was fined $5 in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of installing a burner without a permit.

The defence was conducted by W. C. Moresby, K.C., who pleaded not guilty in order that the court might be informed of the situation.

His client had been appointed British Columbia representative for the Taft Company, with headquarters in Montreal, Mr. Moresby said, and on receiving his first consignment of burners had applied to the authorities for the necessary permission to install them. He had been referred to several officials, including the city fire chief, the Attorney-General's Department, the provincial fire marshal, the assistant provincial fire marshal and then back to the city fire department head, counsel.

COULD NOT GET COPY

He had never been able to obtain a copy of the regulations, Mr. Moresby claimed, other than a booklet, which Mr. Moresby was advised, contained only amendments to the regulations. He wrote to the fire marshal asking permission to install a burner for a customer, which he received. Later a letter had been received from the fire marshal, stating that the permission, because the fire marshal had understood the permission he granted applied to a power burner and not a range burner.

In addition, the fire marshal had notified Mr. Gauthier that he would be unable to issue permits for further installations until such time as the new regulations from the west had been listed with the fire marshal. Moresby admitted his client had installed burners, but these, according to the eastern headquarters, had all been approved by the underwriters. Mr. Moresby submitted there was no intent to violate the regulations on the part of his client. He had discussed the matter with the Deputy Attorney-General, and that authority had advised him he did not think it was a matter in which a penalty fine should be inflicted, Mr. Moresby said.

Magistrate Jay agreed the defendant had done everything possible to obtain the necessary authority and permission and there had been no attempt to evade the regulations. The offence carried a maximum penalty of $300 fine.

B.C. WELFARE HEADS TO MEET

Conference in Vancouver Will Bring Together Social Service Groups

Officials of the health and welfare branches of the provincial Secretary's Department will open a three-day conference in Vancouver to-morrow for a round-table discussion of problems affecting the social services of the province.

The underlying idea of the gathering is to secure better co-ordination of the existing services under plans laid down by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary.

Dr. Harry M. Cassidy, director of social welfare, will preside as general chairman and Byron Johnson, M.P.P. for Victoria, will give an address of welcome.

Subjects under discussion will include general administration problems, mothers' pensions and relief for the poor, juvenile delinquency, mental institutions, tuberculosis treatment and public health problems generally.

MANY AT FUNERAL

Many sorrowing friends and relatives attended the funeral yesterday of Mrs. Robert Armstrong, a native daughter of Victoria, who passed away Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital. Many beautiful flowers were received. The service was conducted by a member of the Christian Brothers and the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking." The pallbearers were E. Simmons, J. McLennan, A. McKenna, A. McDonald, E. O'Neill and Dave Gillespie.

The remains were laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Died Suddenly At Port Alberni

Funeral services were held in Port Alberni to-day over the remains of Henry Walker, aged seventy-seven, who died suddenly on Sunday at the home of his son, A. T. Walker, Port Alberni. Born in Herefordshire, England, he had been a resident of Victoria for the past twenty-five years. He is survived by his widow, four sons, W. J. and P. H. of Victoria, and A. T. and H. A. of Port Alberni; four daughters, Mrs. A. W. Sharpe, Kamloops; Mrs. E. Shilley and Mrs. R. Cupitt of Victoria, and Mrs. C. Spruney of Tacoma, and two brothers, James and Thomas Walker, both of Victoria.

GIRLS WERE HAVE POISE

Prof. T. S. Sterling, on Fairbridge Mission, Impressed By Canadians

Professor T. S. Sterling, former professor of English in the University of California, and vice-dean of the faculty of arts in the Egyptian University at Cairo, is in Victoria to-day in the interests of the Fairbridge system of the Child Emigration Society of Great Britain, which organization plans to establish a school in British Columbia for the development of young farmers.

He is following in the wake of Capt. Lawrence R. Lumley, who was in Victoria last September on a similar mission.

Professor Sterling, however, is confining himself to interesting university professors and Rhodes Scholars in the child welfare movement. He has been interviewing university presidents and others all over Canada and is highly pleased with the success of his trip. He met Capt. Lumley in Ottawa and states no decision has yet been reached as to whether the proposed farm school will be established on Vancouver Island. While in Victoria he is meeting people interested in the child emigration scheme.

PRIDE IN COUNTRY

Since he reached Canada, Professor Sterling has been tremendously impressed by the keen interest taken in their own country by Canadians. "Everybody I have met have talked Canada. And why shouldn't they. It is a country to be proud of," said the visitor.

The charm, poise and business efficiency of the Canadian girl has struck Professor Sterling very forcibly. And he is not a ladies' man.

He has traveled all over the world and was for a number of years secretary of the Universities Bureau of the British Empire.

SPOKEN DRAMA TO BE REVIVED

People Crying For It, Says Herbert Farrar; Little Theatres Have Helped

"People are crying for the spoken drama. The question is whether it will be able to hold its own with the pictures or become a lost art. Personally, I think it will live," said Herbert Farrar, representative of Fritz Lieber, famous Shakespearean actor, who is expected to appear in Victoria early in December.

"Shakespeare? You cannot revive Shakespeare, for he has never died," said Mr. Farrar, with a tragedian's air, when seen this morning at the Empress Hotel.

"Everything created in adolescence will never die and as long as Shakespeare is taught in the schools, he will continue to live."

"Shakespeare has always been the highest point of dramatics on the legitimate stage. You can't put over his psychology on the screen," said Mr. Farrar.

"In my opinion the Little Theatre movement has done much to keep Shakespeare alive. The public has got to be educated to go into the theatre again."

"Amusement is just as necessary to the human race as food."

Mr. Farrar has managed in New York for the Theatre Guild such notable stage productions as "The Good Earth," "Month in the Country," and "Green Grow the Lilacs."

New Chairman Soon For Markets Board

Appointment of a new chairman for the provincial marketing board is expected shortly.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, indicated the government is now considering the change, which was forecast when Col. Eric Pepler, the present chairman, was appointed deputy attorney-general.

The marketing board now has practically a full time job owing to the large number of growers groups seeking ratification of schemes and the combination of the two positions imposes too heavy a burden on one man.

TALK TO SCOTS ON EDINBURGH

Burns Club Hears Lecture on "Most Bonnie City" From Rev. A. S. Imrie

It was Edinburg night at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Burns Club in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium yesterday evening. An audience of several hundred heard "The Most Bonnie City" celebrated in song, story and play.

Rev. Dr. Andrew S. Imrie of Emmanuel Baptist Church gave a dramatic story of his impressions of the ancient metropolis of Scotland under the title of "The Most Bonnie City of Edinburg."

Dr. Imrie's speech is typical of those being given this year at sessions of the club. They are concerned chiefly with the Scot, and usually extend beyond the membership of the club. The programmes offered by the Burns Club are becoming more widely known in the city.

Other numbers on the programme included Scottish dances by Miss Maryann Peterson, solos by Miss Marian Mitchell and A. W. Tait, and the reading of a poem "Scotland Is Calling" by George Grant. Pipe-Major Donald Cameron accompanied the dancing and Miss Jessie Smith the singers. W. A. Jamieson presided at the meeting.

An unusual feature of the session was the presentation of a playlet entitled "A Conducted Tour of Edinburg," staged by Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacBride, W. B. Grant and Mrs. W. A. Jamieson.

Mayor David Leeming and Mrs. Leeming were among the new members accepted into the club, in the course of a brief business meeting.

A special meeting of the club will be held on November 22 in the New Thought Temple, for members of the club only. It was announced. The meeting will include a musical programme, followed by refreshments.

England defeats Italy In International Soccer Match

THE STARS MIRROR Brook Is Hero In Thrilling Victory Before Huge Crowd

PLAYERS in the Victoria and District Soccer League will have to watch their step from now on. The season suspension handed young Chuck Sharpe of the Regents for engaging in a fight with another player during a game last week is pretty good evidence the league is going to stand for no tactics of this nature on the playing court. It is unfortunate that such a young player as Sharpe must remain on the sidelines for the remainder of the season's play but he, like all the other players in the league, had due warning. Following a previous fracas this season the league officers announced that any further players sent off the floor for rough play or fighting would draw stiff suspensions. The executive is to be congratulated for sticking to its guns.

Spirit of keen competition is good for any sport, but when it gets to the stage where players have to come to blows to settle their differences, it is time for disciplinary action to be taken. The unfortunate part is that one or two players usually have to bear the brunt. In this particular case it is one, but it is to be hoped Sharpe's case will prove a good example to other players and that there will be no further outbreaks. Players must remember that regardless of their own personal feeling they must learn to play the game for the game's sake. Better the athlete who can smile in defeat than the one who smiles in victory.

Before the present Old Country soccer season, Aston Villa was said to be one of the teams to watch. Officials of the club were particularly optimistic and they were right. They set about strengthening the team, which has not won an English League championship since 1910, although the Villians have finished second on several occasions since then. So they expended $50,000 on Allan, Portsmouth's centre-half. "We will have a championship team," the crowds will turn out to hear him say. "We will have a better team than ever, and we will build bigger and better grandstands," they said. But the team is not showing championship form, nor are the crowds attending in any larger number, so for the time being, there is to be no new grandstand. Two hundred thousand dollars was the sum it was intended to spend on the stand, a double-decker. Villa directors had planned to build covered accommodation all around the ground, and in this way enter to the more limited of their supporters who are afraid of a drenching; but in the meantime the Scottish part of the Villians' management says: "No the no!"

By the formation of a Dominion board of control for cricket a momentous step in the direction of stimulating the game has been taken. The announced personnel of the board is such that it should command confidence throughout Canada, and doubtless beneficial leadership will result by more frequent contact in council interpretively and east with west. In any event, more representative cricket inevitably should follow. The prospective affiliation which the board will aim to conduct with the M.C.C. cannot but result in healthier atmosphere. Added to that advantage, teams in other parts of the empire which contemplate tour of or from Canada will be able to negotiate through an accepted official channel. All-round prestige will be gained by reason of the presence and functioning of a recognized representative Dominion board. For many years there has been expressed by cricketers throughout Canada the need of an official unit. Due to the impossibility of convening annual assemblies of delegates from the various provinces, the idea of a Canadian Cricket Association, once tried and abandoned. The newly formed board is confronted with the difficult task of initiating some constructive programme for Dominion cricket. That it eventually will accomplish much good, those who are familiar with its personnel entertain no doubt.

Popularity of ice hockey is rapidly spreading in Europe, and this year has all the signs of becoming the biggest season since the game was introduced there, says Tommy Robertson, former star with the McGill University hockey team. The ex-McGill star, who is at present playing for the Richmond Hawks in London, tells of the formation of an international league embracing teams from six countries. He believes some of the teams in this league will present some considerable threat to any visiting Canadian team. Many Canadian amateur stars now overseas have reinforced this league, among whom are Beaton and McArthur, two Maritime representatives; Gagnon, Gaudet, Bellumure and a host of others. Much French-Canadian talent has been exported to Paris, the leading French centre for the game.

In the matter of rink accommodations there is no cause for worry. The Palais des Sports in Paris is capable of seating 18,000, while there are at least four good rinks in London alone, reports the former McGill star. As an example of the great interest in hockey over there, Robertson mentions an international hockey match played in the early part of October this year at Paris between the Stade Francaise and Richmond Hawks. Although neither team was in very good condition, 13,000 Frenchmen cheered themselves hoarse. The newspapers reported the game as the best ever played in that city. The London Hawks travel a lot by airplane, says Robertson, and these "high fliers" are anxiously waiting for a visit from some Canadian hockey team to prove that hockey can be played well in other countries besides Canada.

Scores Pair of Goals in 3 to 2 Verdict Before 70,000 Howling Fans

ITALIAN GOALIE IS SENSATIONAL

London, Nov. 14.—England defeated Italy 3 to 2 this afternoon in an international soccer classic before a huge crowd at Highbury, the Italians scoring both their goals in the second half after the English team had taken a 3 to 0 lead.

A large proportion of Italians were among the 70,000 capacity crowd that turned out despite threatening skies and occasional rain.

The English were all over the invaders in the first half with dazzling speed and combination that produced goals from Brook, Manchester City, twice, and Drake, Arsenal, to put the Italians in a three-goal deficit at the half.

Despite the loss of a man through injuries after the interval, the Italians attacked most aggressively, though their tactics brought boos now and again from the English supporters. Neaza scored twice for them, but they could not get the tying goal, although they were playing brilliantly at the end.

The English margin, however, would have been bigger but for the remarkable work of Ceresoni in the Italian goal. Brook, who had a good proportion of Italians, who waved national flags, sang the Fascist song and other Italian airs to the accompaniment of accordions.

An unusually large number of women were in the crowd that soon filled the galleries.

A drenching rain starting shortly before game time failed to dampen the spirits of the throng. The turf looked heavy as a result of recent rains.

The teams took the field after the national anthems of both countries had been played, and they were introduced to Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The game opened dramatically. England was awarded a penalty shot in the first minute when Drake was unfairly tackled a few yards from the Italian goal. Brook, one of the hardest shots in football, took the penalty, but his drive, though well placed, was well saved by Ceresoni.

The Italian attack, which changed to means, however, when Brook made up by scoring two goals within ten minutes. The first was headed in from a beautiful place in the Italian half, the second came indirectly as a result of continued questionable tactics by the Italians. Drake was tripped and Brook scored off the free kick with a terrific drive.

England's stout defence held the Italian attack in a vice-like grip. Hapgood was hurt in one of these series and retired for attention. Afterwards Bowden and Matthews by clever combination work enabled England to score the third goal in fifteen minutes.

The Italians seemed completely outplayed in every department. Hapgood returned to the field and then the Italians were handicapped by a leg injury to Monti. They reorganized their defence, but seemed bewildered by the speed and footwork of the English attack.

The Italians were unfortunately without Monti on the resumption, losing one of the best defenders. They stuck to tackling methods that aroused the crowd, especially when Bastin was hurt. The ten invaders struggled gallantly and succeeded by wild methods in checking the tricky Englishmen.

Going all out on the attack the Italians finally produced a perfect movement through the right wing and on a great shot Meaza scored. A few minutes later he repeated from a free kick, the ball going in off the inside of the crossbar.

England attacked fiercely, but Ceresoni performed miracles in the Italian net in the face of repeated thrusts by Matthews, Drake and Bowden.

The Italians began to play sparkling football, but found Barker a stumbling block down the middle. England worked the ball to the goal mouth and shot at every opportunity, but the agile Ceresoni was a wonder. The Italian defenders gradually became much quicker on the ball and subdued the English attack which finished weakly. The Italians forced the pace as the finish approached, and in the closing minutes, with the threat of a second goal, they were unable to score again, however, before the whistle.

The teams followed: England: Moss (Arsenal), goal; Male (Arsenal) and Hapgood (Arsenal), backs; Britton (Everton), Barker (Derby) and Conington (Arsenal), halfbacks; Matthews (Stoke), Bowden (Arsenal), Drake (Arsenal), Bastin (Arsenal) and Brook (Manchester City), forwards. Italy: Ceresoni, goal; Monzeglio and Alamedani, backs; Ferraris, Monti and Bertolino, halfbacks; Cuzita, Serantoni, Meaza, Ferrari and Orsi, forwards.

A meeting of the Royal Juvenile Athletic Association will be held at the Y.M.C.A. this evening, at 8 o'clock. All clubs are asked to have representatives present.

Breadon May Sell St. Louis Cards

St. Louis, Nov. 14.—"Law" Wentz, millionaire oil producer of Ponca City, Okla., will be the next owner of the St. Louis Cardinals if he agrees to pay the price Sam Breadon has set on his world championship baseball club. Breadon, president of the Cardinals yesterday evening confirmed reports negotiations were under way for Wentz to purchase control of the club and its major league farms. If the sale is completed it appears certain Branch Rickey, vice-president and general manager of the Cardinals, will become president of the organization.

SCHMELING TO FIGHT LASKY?

Is Latest Plan of Madison Square Garden; S. Hamas Out in Cold

New York, Nov. 14.—The heavyweight mountains stirred, groaned and, after terrific effort, squeaked out a tiny amount of information yesterday. Art Lasky, lean Jew from Minneapolis, will be asked to fight Max Schmeling from Herr Hitler's Germany, either here or in Miami, Fla., in the first of the eliminations to determine a heavyweight title opponent for Max Baer next June.

"Yes, sir," said James J. Johnston, who has been worrying about this for weeks on behalf of Madison Square Garden. "I'm going to Chicago to see Lasky fight Kingfish Levinsky, November 23, and if he wins and is susceptible, I will offer him the first match with Schmeling."

SIDETRACK HAMAS His language might not have been too clear, but his intent was obvious. The conflicting racial interests in such a match apparently warrant the side-tracking, temporarily, of young Steve Hamas, the Penn State alum, who, in his best fights in the past twelve months, won decisions over both Lasky and Schmeling.

"Hamas is out for a while, anyway," said Johnston. "His manager, Charlie Harvey, insists he has earned the right to fight Baer, and he wants to wait until June and do that."

"That's a very silly idea. What will he do for groceries during the winter, and what can we do with the rest of the heavyweights in the meantime?" he challenged by Levinsky, who is a right next June."

To which Harvey replied: "We have gotten through some very tight winters before. We want Baer. We insist on our right to fight Baer in June without further eliminations."

"As a matter of fact," he said, "The Garden has not asked us to fight anyone on any given date. Lasky may get beaten by Levinsky, and that would eliminate both of them. Schmeling is in Germany, and I won't believe he's coming back here until I see him. Primo Carnera, the only other possibility, is in South America. Who is there to fight?"

At the women's annual gathering, Mrs. W. T. Sison was again elected captain and C. W. Gamble chosen vice-captain.

Montreal Maroons Win In Overtime

Dave Trotter's Goal Gives Canadian Squad 2 to 1 Victory Over St. Louis Eagles in N.H.L.; Bowman Scores Eagles' Counter on Penalty Shot

Predictions the newly introduced penalty shot would best goals for per cent of the time have been doubted, but results so far in this young National Hockey League season indicate arseshooters may get an even break with netminders.

There are only two cases by which to judge. George Hainsworth, Toronto goalie, blocked Armand Mondou's shot when Montreal Canadiens were awarded a free one Saturday night and Scotty Bowman, of St. Louis, evened things up yesterday evening when he beat Alex Connell, Montreal Maroons, at St. Louis.

The penalty goal was the only one St. Louis got in the game which Maroons won 2 to 1 in overtime with Dave Trotter's tally. Jimmy Ward had put the Montrealers a goal up with five minutes to go in the second period from Hoolay Smith's pass. Shortly after Syd Howe was tripped by Stew Evans as he was about to shoot and the Eagles were awarded the free try that tied up the game.

The defeat left St. Louis with only one win from four games. Maroons started their season, which also was their first league game under Tommy Gorman, pilot of the world champion Chicago Black Hawks last season. Entry of Maroons into the schedule in the lone M.H.L. game played yesterday evening left New York Americans the only team which has not started the 1934-35 race.

They get into the battle to-morrow night when they open at home against Toronto. It will be the first game since the schedule opening on which six teams have played, Maroons taking on Chicago at Montreal and Rangers playing Detroit Red Wings at Detroit.

Teams follow: Montreal—Connell, Conacher, Shields, Smith, Northcott, Ward, Webster, Evans, Wentworth, Blinco, Trotter, Galmor, McManus, Haynes. St. Louis—Beveridge, Bowman, Williams, Kaminsky, Shannon, Finnigan, Ayres, Frew, Voss, Brydson, Howe, E. Roche, D. Roche, Cowley, Bud Cook. Referee—Bill Stewart, A. G. Smith.

FRENCH ARMY RIDERS WIN

Rise to Heights to Capture Team Championship at New York Horse Show

New York, Nov. 14.—The French Army team, victor the first time it crossed the Atlantic in 1925, yesterday evening rode back to the heights in the international military jumping competition by winning the team championship with a brilliant display of horsemanship as a climax to the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden.

Competing against the officers and selected mounts of Canada, the United States, Chile and the Irish Free State, the French team turned in two perfect performances over the difficult course and made only one mistake with the third member of the trio for an aggregate of four faults.

The favored United States team was second with eight faults and trailed by Canada with eleven, Chile with twelve, and the Irish with fifteen.

For the Canadian officers, it was the best display of the show. None of the Dominion's horses was charged with more than four faults, while Maximal, with Lieut. Capt. Stuart Bate in the saddle, had only three marked against him as the result of refusing the first jump.

Fight Card Greatly Enjoyed By S.O.E.

Members of the Sons of England were well entertained yesterday evening in their lodge hall, Broad Street, when the boxers and wrestlers of the Mount Stephen Athletic Club put on a fine exhibition of bouts. All who took part in the exhibition showed fine spirit and were loudly applauded by the large crowd present. Constable Louis Gailien and Billy Winney gave a splendid boxing exhibition. Boxers on the card included: Billy Mooney vs. Howey Morrison, Ken Burns vs. Bill Thorburn, Jack Knowles vs. Dick Reid, Billy Knowles vs. Bobby Hogan. Wrestlers on the card included: Young Gus Sonnenberg, Young Ernie Arthur, Jack Lacey, Jack Young, Eddie Dunk, W. Haslam, Wally Edwards and "Tarzan" Shepherd. Gailien and Leask refereed the bouts.

Cleveland, Nov. 14.—Joe Clignet, a member of the Holland team in the six-day bicycle race here, was seriously injured during a period of fast "jamming" early to-day.

A tire on Clignet's bicycle blew out and the rider was thrown from the track into the wooden supports. X-rays will be taken to determine whether Clignet suffered a fractured skull.

Clignet's teammates, Piet Van Kempen and Ernst Muller, carried on without him pending the determination of his injuries and were leading.

Staging of Rugby Series This Season to Hinge on Meeting of B.C. Union Here; California Invasion and Return Trip to Be Discussed

Plans for the 1934-35 McKechnie Cup rugby series, believed by many to be a thriving like a healthy plant, were reported to be as uncertain as the life of a shrub without water by local union officials to-day. The conditions were favorable for the usual development, but Vancouver's reported dissatisfaction with financial terms was regarded as a drought which the plant might not weather.

On Sunday afternoon delegates from Vancouver will meet local representatives at a special meeting to discuss the matter here. Together with the McKechnie Cup conferences will be a discussion of the proposed visit of California's rugby team to British Columbia around Christmas time and a return trip by British Columbians to the south.

STILL IN DARK

"We know nothing about it here. We don't even know whether or not we are in on it," George Paulin, secretary of the local union, stated to-day.

At the last meeting of the British Columbia Rugby Union in Vancouver it was understood all difficulties in the path of the McKechnie Cup inter-city play had been surmounted. Since that time, though, new barriers have been raised by Vancouver members who are not satisfied with the financial split for the series which brings together Victoria and Vancouver rep teams and the University of British Columbia. Just what the differences were could not be determined.

Last year the series was unceremoniously abandoned without any winner being declared. It is possible a large part of the discussion on the question at Sunday's meeting will revolve around the relative contributions of Victoria and Vancouver to the McKechnie Cup pot.

RELATIVE POSITIONS

Up to four or five years ago, Vancouver virtually carried the load of the series when rugby was in a state of flux here. During recent seasons, however, the game has forged ahead here while the ranks of the faithful have dwindled pitifully on the mainland.

Added to this is the fact that certain tours and games with outside teams have dented the provincial union's pocketbook rather badly.

It is hoped, however, that the matter will be settled amicably at the round table talks here Sunday.

E. Sykes, Vancouver, president of the provincial body, is expected to occupy the chair at the meeting. M. Crehan, president of the Vancouver union, and Murray Rowan, treasurer of the provincial group, are also expected to attend.

Seattle, Nov. 14.—Freddie Steele, Tacoma, middleweight, was awarded a technical knockout victory over Jimmy Evans, San Francisco, when the latter quit in the fourth round of their bout. Steele weighed 156 and Evans 149½.

CALGARY MAY GET AMATEURS

Prairie Pro Hockey Team to Give Trout to Cronie, Snowden and Spencer

Calgary, Nov. 14.—A. B. Cronie, Mel Snowden and Jack Spencer, three Calgary hockey players who have been refused transfers to play in the West Kootenay League, will be offered professional contracts with Calgary Tigers of the Northwestern League, Gordon McFarlane and Sam Timmins, Calgary franchise owners, said yesterday.

Informing that the transfers had been refused by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association, the local managers said they hoped to arrange for the three Calgary trouts with Tigers.

Cronie and Snowden, who played with junior Jimmies here last year, tried out with New York Americans this year. It is understood arrangements will be made with Joe Simpson, Americans' manager, to have the two Calgaryans considered Americans' property if they sign with Tigers. Such a move might raise Tigers to the status of a farm team for Americans.

Spencer played with Calgary Bronks in senior ranks last year.

Mr. And Mrs.

Do You

Dorothy Dix

Urges You

the Proof

A MAN—whose middle name surely must be Solomon—who is at the head of a big business in which he employs many men has given orders that the wives of all of the married men must come down to the shop once a month and spend the day watching their husbands work. It is a great idea, and if he would only amend it by requiring the husbands to spend every fourth Sunday, say, watching their wives work it would go a long way toward ironing out the domestic difficulties in many a household.

For there is no other subject in the world over which there are so many family scraps as there is over which one of the high-contrasting parties gets the hot end in matrimony. Wives are virtually a unit in believing that their husbands' alleged work is mostly play and consists of eating leisurely lunches, listening to good stories and flirting with blonde stenographers, while men are firmly wedded to the theory that wives spend most of their time loitering on couches and reading novels, interspersed with trips to the department stores and picture shows.

How either one figures out that the other manages to make a living or keep a house going, no one can explain, but it is a fact that virtually every wife looks at her husband enviously as he puts on his hat of a morning and starts off to work and wishes that she had it that easy, and nothing is more common than for a husband to say to his wife: "Gosh! I wish I didn't have anything to do but to stay at home and keep house and take care of the children, as you do."

Now the reason that husbands and wives undervalue each other's labor and show each other so little appreciation and sympathy is that, as a general thing, neither one has the slightest idea of what the other one does. To the woman going down town means a bit of a spree. It is a break from the monotony of housework. It is seeing new faces, talking with strangers, the excitement of buying something that she has wanted for a long time. She does not connect it in her mind with the exhausting work, with the torturing anxieties, with the having to put up with bullying superiors or incompetent employees or the unreason of fault-finding customers and clients, which her husband has endured all day.

She does not realize that the reason her husband is peevish at home is because his nerves are worn to a frazzle abroad. She does not comprehend that the reason he hides himself behind the evening paper and sits up in dull silence is because he has made sales talks until there isn't a word left in him and he hates the sound of his own voice. She doesn't understand that the reason she has to drag him out to parties and places of amusement is because he is so worn out when night comes that all in the world he wants to do is to flop down on a couch and rest. Above all, she doesn't know how hard money is earned and that every dollar is wet with her husband's sweat and blood, or else she would not throw it away as recklessly as she often does.

And if women have little appreciation of how hard men work to support their families, men have even less appreciation of the endless labor that women perform in rearing a family and making a comfortable home. To the man home is a place for rest and relaxation and, without realizing it, he has a general impression that all his wife does is to wave some sort of magic wand and good meals appear upon the table, floors are swept, dishes are washed, children are tucked up, leaving the lady of the house to lead a life of sybaritic ease and luxury.

Somehow the fact that wife gets up half an hour before he does in the morning and is still at work when he goes to bed escapes his attention. Nor does he observe that she has no high days and holidays and that no forty-hour week obtains for her wife and mother. Nor does he take note that it takes hours to prepare the savory dinner that is eaten in thirty minutes; that baby-tending is a perpetual-motion job; that Mary's hair has to be combed twenty times a day; that Johnny has to be told not once but a thousand times to hang his cap on the rack and not on the floor; that the process of cleaning, darning, mending that keep a home a going concern and a family comfortable is one that goes on incessantly, day after day, year after year.

Yet husbands continually express wonder at what women do with their time. They can't understand why wife, who has been up all night walking a sick baby and who has got breakfast and heard the children's lessons and got them off to school, doesn't look as peppy and fresh and have her hair as beautifully combed as their stenographers. Nor can they understand why their wives complain of the drudgery of their work when they have nothing to do but cook and wash and iron and make one dollar do the work of five.

The old proverb says that one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives. Of none is this truer than of husbands and wives. And there would be a great domestic reformation if the wife and husband could occasionally change jobs and find out from actual experience how heavy are the other's burdens, the amount of effort, of self-denial the other put into the making of the home and the supporting of it.

Uncle Wiggly's Rocking Horse

By HOWARD E. GARIS

"Buster Longears, the little rabbit boy was very fond of playing 'Cowboys and Indians.' 'Out West' and games like that.

"Buster, if you ever want to be a cowboy, you'll have to turn into a cowboy or an Indian."

"I'd love that," said Buster, who was one of Uncle Wiggly's little bunny boys. "If I had a horse I could play Indians and cowboys better and have fun."

"You could take a piece of her rope for a lasso. But I haven't a horse."

"A little rabbit boy like you couldn't ride a big horse at the Indians and cowboys do," said Uncle Wiggly, laughing.

"Oh, I don't mean to ride a real, big horse at first," Buster said. "I'd start with a pony."

"Yes, Daddy, I could!" exclaimed Buster. "Please will you get me a rocking horse so I can practice? Please. And he was so excited and happy that he ran around the bungalow, shouting like a cowboy: 'I'm going to have a rocking horse to ride on! Hurrah!'"

"Hurry to buy it!"

"Now, Wiggly! You're done it!" said the little gentleman's wife. "Buster thinks you're going to get him a rocking horse to practice riding on and you'll have to do it!"

"Do you think so?" asked Mr. Longears. "Yes," said the lady rabbit. "And when a little later, Buster said he'd start with a pony."

"Oh, Goodie! Goodie! Goodie!" laughed Buster and he hopped about the bungalow again, telling all the other little rabbits about his rocking horse.

"Well, I suppose I had better go get it," said Uncle Wiggly after a while. "I must keep my promise." So he twinkled his eyes and he and Buster went out through the woods to the toy store where he could buy a rocking horse for Buster.

"Uncle Wiggly, I want the same one as the bunny had bought Baby Bunny's 'Tummy-graph,' that scared the Bob Cat. A rocking horse that makes Buster can ride."

"The very thing," said Uncle Wiggly. "I have the very thing for you." So he showed Uncle Wiggly, a white wooden horse, whose legs were fastened to rockers like a chair so he could rock back and forth and pretend to run and gallop. "This rocking horse has real horse hair for a tail and mane," said the Monkey Doodle. "His ears are of leather and his teeth are made of wood. They never ache nor need to be pulled."

"That's fine!" said Uncle Wiggly. "But this rocking horse stinks enough for Buster!"

"He's strong enough to hold you, Uncle Wiggly. Get on!" said the Monkey Doodle. So the bunny got on the rocking horse and rode him a little way around the store.

"I'll take him for Buster," said Mr. Longears. "I'll carry him home with me under my paw." So he did this. Uncle Wiggly was thinking how pleased Buster would be, when, all of a sudden, as he was hopping in the woods, out popped the Wolf and chased the bunny garden. "I've got you now," howled the Wolf. "I've got you now!"

"Oh, no, you haven't!" shouted Uncle Wiggly. Quickly the rabbit jumped on the back of Buster's rocking horse. He made the horse run and gallop very fast and so got safely home and away from the Bad Chap. And if the onion won't be strong that it throws the carrot out of the soup, I'll tell you neat about Uncle Wiggly buying a horse."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1934

Adverse planetary aspects appear to dominate today, according to astrology. It is a rule under which violent emotions are more prevalent than usual. Self-control should be practiced.

In the morning hours there may be an inclination toward selfishness. Light arguments and discussions may easily become serious. Letters and messages are safer mediums under this rule of the stars.

This is a favorable day for starting anything that has been carefully planned under a more favorable aspect of the stars. It is a lucky rule for opening new shops or extending established places of business.

Later hours are not fortunate under this planetary government. It is especially dangerous to drink wine or liquor in the evening of this day, since mental equilibrium is easily affected.

Women should be especially cautious in word and deed while this configuration prevails, for they are exceedingly sensitive to suggestion, argument and persuasive appeals that may lead to bad investments in real estate—or in husbands.

Money is to be more plentiful next month, when the Christmas spirit will loosen purses.

Novel plans are to work out favorably for the employment of men and women next month, when there will be a decided feeling of optimism in the midst of serious employment problems.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of success in which troubles of the past will cease to be remembered.

Children born on this day probably will be reliable, studious and successful. Subjects of this sign have a scientific trend of thought and may be most attractive in personality.

William Herchel, distinguished astronomer, was born on this day, 1732. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Edward J. Davison, actor, 1816; Richard Henry Dana, poet and novelist, 1817; and Thurlow Weed, journalist and politician, 1827.

Quebec Newspaper Says Editorially That Eastern City Proud of Great Liner

Quebec, Nov. 14.—On the occasion of the last sailing from here this season of the liner Empress of Britain last week L'Evenement said editorially:

"The Empress of Britain has sailed from Quebec for the last time this year. Her departure at the end of last week marked the end of autumn, as the fall of the leaves was in full commencement. It was not without a feeling of regret that we bid the vessel farewell on this occasion. The Empress of Britain is a source of pride and wealth for the city of Quebec. It makes our port a centre of activity which increases with the years. She has become one of the most popular Atlantic liners because of her speed, safety and comfort. Thanks to her arrivals and departures during the season of navigation on the St. Lawrence, we see pass through Quebec each summer leading figures of the Dominion and many eminent personages of international fame.

It has been said by some individuals that the building of this magnificent steamship was premature. Possibly, if the economic depression could have been foreseen, construction work would have been delayed for the ship's revenues have not yet been what it was hoped and expected they would be. But the Empress is a national investment, if we consider what the vessel represents for Canada, for the St. Lawrence route and for Quebec. Before 1931, the year of the inauguration of her service between our port, Cherbourg and Southampton, there was not so rapid a liner sailing the St. Lawrence route. Passengers who desired to make the Atlantic voyage in five days would book their passage via New York.

"It is just to consider also what this giant liner means as a medium of publicity for Quebec. She is a great factor of progress and we owe a debt of gratitude to the Canadian Pacific Steamships for having endowed the Port of Quebec with this transatlantic service. We wish the Empress of Britain, then, another successful voyage during the coming winter months and a prompt return to Quebec with the opening of navigation on the St. Lawrence next spring.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

Is Still Required To Finance the Work of the Friendly Help Welfare Associations of Greater Victoria for the Coming Year.

Thousands of letters and pledge cards have been sent out from Campaign Headquarters during the last few weeks but up to date the number of returns has been disappointingly small. It has been left to 360 individual donors to set the mark of $17,000 now reached. There must be many thousands of people in this city and the adjacent municipalities who, without feeling it, could give a dollar or two to help those who through circumstances beyond their control are helpless and hopeless.

On this page appears a reproduction of the pledge card sent out from Headquarters. For the convenience of those who have not received a card or who have mislaid it, may we suggest that they cut out this reproduction, fill it in and mail it to Campaign Headquarters, Room 6, 640 Fort Street, together with their donation, no matter how small. Should it be more convenient to pay at a later date or in installments, the card may be filled in accordingly.

ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS AND PLEDGES WILL BE GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED

Three More Liners Go To Junk Yards

Minnetonka, France and Minnewaska to End Atlantic Careers Shortly; Many Ships Junked During Last Few Years

London, Nov. 14.—Two Atlantic liners, the Minnetonka and the Minnewaska, have been sold for breaking-up. It was announced here this morning.

The vessels are ten and eleven years old respectively, and have been laid up at Antwerp for nearly a year by the International Mercantile Marine, which company operated them between Europe and America during the last few years.

Le Havre, Nov. 14.—The former palatial liner France has been sold for junk. It was announced at the office of the French Line this morning.

The once luxurious ship has been bought by wreckers and will be towed to Dunkerque to be broken up. Most of the furniture in her first-class rooms was transferred to the Maison de France in New York City.

The Minnetonka was built at the Belfast plant of Harland and Wolff in 1923 and the Minnewaska at the same plant the following year. Both ships are registered at 21,000 tons, and have a length of 500 feet, with a beam of 60 feet, a depth of forty-eight feet. They were built by the British Transport Company, but were later taken over by the I.M.M. of New York.

The France is twenty-two years old. She was built at St. Nazaire in 1912, and served during the war, later operating between New York, Cherbourg and Southampton. She is registered at 23,700 tons, with a length of 500 feet, a beam of seventy-five feet and a depth of forty-eight feet. Her home port has been Havre.

During the last few years scores of once-famous Atlantic liners have been committed to the junk heap, several of them having been sold to Japanese interests. Their places have been taken by newer and sturdier vessels, such as the Queen Mary, Britannic of the Cunard-White Star Line; the Champlain of the French Line, and the Empress of Britain of the Canadian Pacific fleet. Two of the leading Atlantic liners junked recently were the Empress of France and the Empress of Scotland, the latter having been badly damaged by fire before she was finally dismantled.

The Baltic was one of the largest liners sold to Japan for scrap metal. The new British liner Queen Mary, and the new French vessel Normandie, both now building, will fill up the gap left by the withdrawal of many former well-known Atlantic ships.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where tides occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

SUBMARINE ON LUG VAYAGE

Dutch Under-sea Craft Will Call at Tristan da Cunha During Lengthy Cruise

Amsterdam, Holland, Nov. 14.—The Netherlands naval submarine K. 18, in a cruise worthy of Jules Verne's Captain Nemo, to-day slithered off the stocks at the Amsterdam docks. Helder on the longest, undersea voyage ever attempted.

Scheduled to end at Surabaya, Java, the voyage will follow a roundabout course, touching at Dakar, Senegal, the South Atlantic islands of Tristan da Cunha, Brazil and Argentina, then the Cape of Good Hope, South Africa, and on to Surabaya.

Professor Vernon Gmelin, will conduct gravitation and cosmic ray studies aboard the submarine during the cruise.

The stop at Tristan da Cunha followed by request by the British Government that the island be rarely visited by steamers or other vessels. The submarine is scheduled to deliver mails there and inquire into the economic conditions of the population.

The K. 18 is 242 feet long and has a cruising radius of 3,500 miles. It is capable of making 177 tons of oil on the surface and 1,040 tons submerged. It can accommodate thirty-eight persons.

Longshoremen In Dock Riot

Eight Men Injured and Dock Partially Wrecked During Argument at Stockton

Stockton, Calif., Nov. 14.—Shortly after a truce expired rival groups of longshoremen met in a bloody battle in the city's waterfront. Eight men were injured, some seriously. The dock was partially wrecked. The riot broke out at a dock terminal office yesterday.

The fight was between members of the International Longshoremen's Association and of the Independent Dock Workers' Association over who should get dock jobs. The office was wrecked as that of the Stockton Terminal Service and Stevedoring Company.

Stones, clubs, bottles and fists flew in the fight. Last week five independent men were beaten, but refused to swear to complaints. "We'll handle this in our own way," they told police.

Among those more seriously injured yesterday, all of them independent stevedores, were John Booth, twenty-nine, six stitches in his head; Robert Catalan, twenty, gashed knee and face; Leo Booth, twenty-seven, face cuts, and Roy Casaway, twenty-six, injuries to shoulders and ribs. Four others were less seriously hurt.

The groups were said to have called a twenty-four-hour truce on violence Monday, which expired at noon yesterday.
